A number of Victorians who waited outside their homes late last night were rewarded with the sight of many meteorites plunging toward the earth—at a rate of 50 an hour, according to an observatory official.

FIRE HOSE SNAPS TAUT, HURLS CHILD ONTO ROCK

DONALD STEWART

Condition Of Boy Serious

A fire hose which slashed like a bowstring across a corner lot yesterday, when it jammed while unreeled from a Saanich fire engine, hurled one youngster 15 feet, bowled over another and sent a policeman sprawling.

In serious condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night was Donald Stewart, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stewart, 3314 Fircrest, after he was catapulted onto a rock outcropping by the hose.

GRASS FIRE

The freak accident came at 1.30 p.m. yesterday as the Saanich fire department went to work extinguishing a grass fire near the Stewart home.

After connecting a hose to a hydrant at Oakcrest and Knight, the moving truck unreeled it by driving down Knight and onto Fircrest.

RIPPED SIGNPOST

A coupling jammed on the reel and the suddenly-tightened hose snapped diagonally across the corner, ripping out a signpost and damaging shrubbery in the garden of F. L. Rogers, 3318 Fircrest.

The Stewart youngster, with a friend, Russell Batstone, 5, of 1541 McRae, was running along Knight beside the Rogers garden when the hose whipped him off his feet and hurled him headlong onto a rock outcropping 15 feet from the road.

BOWLED OVER

The Batstone boy was also bowled over by the tightening hose and Saanich Const. Jon Post was knocked to the ground. Neither was seriously injured.

Fireman Clifford Button, 4438 Majestic, driver of the truck, had no inkling the hose had jammed and it was not until he had stopped in position to fight the fire and saw a policeman running toward him that he discovered the accident. Saanich police ambulance took the injured boy to hospital.

Projects Resume Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 550 ironworkers which has tied up about $80,000,000 worth of construction in British Columbia for 50 days is formally over and the men will return to work today.

Ironworkers from 15 companies voted 96.9 per cent in favor of accepting a 57-cent-an-hour increase over 27 months.

Navy, RCAF Welded

Coast Defence One Command

A shuffle of Pacific Coast defence controls has made HMC Dockyard in Esquimalt the nerve centre of an integrated RCN-RCAF organization—the Canadian Maritime Command Pacific.

It is responsible for the defence of Canada's west coast against attack from the sea and the protection of sea communications in the Pacific.

Completion of the change-over was announced last night, almost 10 months after Defence Minister George Pearkes first outlined the plan.

RESCUE UNAFFECTED

The new command will not affect 121 Communications and Rescue Flight, which operates the air-sea rescue service on the Pacific Coast from Sea Island.

The RCAF Maritime Squadron, stationed at Comox, has been welded to the RCN's Pacific Coast fleet for co-ordinated operations.

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, has been appointed commander of the new organization. Group Capt. J. H. Roberts, RCAF, Comox, is deputy commander, stationed at Esquimalt.

Ships under control of the maritime command are the squadron of St. Laurent-class destroyer escorts, under the command of Capt. J. C. Pratt and the escort squadron of Prestonian-class frigates under Capt. H. A. Porter, all based at Esquimalt.

The air arm of the command is 407 (Maritime Patrol) Squadron of Neptune aircraft, under the command of Wing Commander J. C. McCarthy, based at Comox.

Crocodiles

Do or Die Politico Triumphs

IPOH, Malaya (AP) — A swim in a crocodile-infested river has virtually assured Inche Hussein Bin Noordin, a general election candidate, of 441 votes.

This is how: A 200-year-old custom in Kampong village decrees that anyone visiting the village for the first time must swim its river, alive, with snapping crocodiles.

If the visitor is good, legend has it, he will go unharmed. If he's bad, he'll be snapped up. Noordin, an Alliance Party candidate, took the plunge—and not a crocodile snout was raised in protest.

Said Noordin's agent: "That should assure us of the village's 441 votes."

Polio Fight Aided

MONTREAL (CP) — Six iron lungs were flown here from Winnipeg Wednesday to bolster hard-pressed hospital equipment while worried health officials prepared to call an emergency meeting today in view of the alarming polio rate.

So far, 184 victims have been admitted to hospitals.

Rebels Encircled

Castro Flies In To Fighting Area

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro flew Wednesday to Las Villas province, where authorities said a band of counter-revolutionaries was encircled by rebel troops.

Reports reaching Havana later said a number of fugitives had surrendered, including several persons "of considerable importance."

Castro's trip to Cienfuegos, 140 miles southeast of Havana, was unexpected. On reaching the city, he boarded a helicopter, apparently to fly to the mountainous area between Cienfuegos and the town of Trinidad where the operation was said to centre.

New suspects were run through police interrogations, meanwhile, as Castro's forces continued what they called a mopping-up against an anti-government conspiracy.

A number of prisoners were released in Havana. Elsewhere more arrests were reported. There was no firm estimate of the total caught in the dragnet, although Castro's brother, Raul, said it was 3,000.

Reports persisted—at the presidential palace that Castro intends to climax his war against the "counter-revolutionaries" by flying to Chile to participate in the closing session of the inter-American foreign ministers conference at Santiago.

Bulletins

MIAMI, Fla.—Fresh speculation that an invasion force of counter-revolutionaries may have landed on Cuba's south central coast in the last 48 hours was reported from Havana Wednesday.

LONDON — The Duke of Edinburgh may visit Ghana this autumn, Ghana's Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah announced shortly after being appointed first Negro on the Queen's privy council.

SYDNEY, Australia—Factories will be asked to shut down to avoid unpleasant odors when Princess Alexandra drives from Sydney airport into the city Sept. 9 along a usually "smelly" route.

TORONTO — Ozzie Waffle, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto civil defence committee, says the federal government plans to build large atomic fallout shelters in downtown Toronto.

Canada's Fighting Fisherman Hits the Deck

Canada's Fighting Fisherman, Yvon Durelle, lies sprawled on canvas at Montreal Forum as referee Jack Sharkey waves that it's all over and Archie Moore has retained his world light-heavyweight

Phil Boats Big One —With a Fly Rod

Bing Crosby may be owner of the only lifetime fishing licence issued by the B.C. government, but yesterday Phil Harris was the big fisherman.

The two are fishing near Namu, small cannery community across Queen Charlotte Strait from the north end of Vancouver Island, aboard the 137-foot yacht Campana of newspaper proprietor Max Bell.

It sounded as though something desperate had happened when Crosby called the Colonist by radio-telephone yesterday afternoon to describe what he called an "exciting morning."

Actually, he just wanted to report the gravel-voiced Harris had just hooked and landed a 37-pound salmon using a fly rod and a 10-pound test line.

"It was an exciting morning," he said. "Takes a real fisherman to turn in a performance like that."

LOT OF FISH
A longtime B.C. booster whose efforts on behalf of the 1958 centennial celebrations earned him the lifetime hunting and fishing licence from a grateful provincial government, Crosby said he was catching lots of fish.

48-POUNDER
And although Crosby didn't say it himself, news from the area indicates that "the Groaner" boated a 48-pounder. Then he switched the conversation to baseball. He wanted the win-loss and percentage figures for the "first five teams in the National and the first two in the American."

Request for exact standings made it sound like a baseball pool was going strong on the Campana.

Crosby also expressed concern about comedian Bob Hope, another Vancouver Island visitor, with whom he has staged a lengthy battle of wits and shots on the golf course.

Hope, ordered by his doctor to take a complete rest, said earlier this week he plans to take a boat trip in Vancouver Island waters and might catch up to the Crosby-Harris party.

'GOOD THING'

Crosby asked if Hope had left Victoria and when told he was at Qualicum Beach, said, "That's a good thing for Victoria. Now you'll get some peace and quiet."

Then he relented and asked where Hope was staying in Qualicum.

"I want to phone and find out how he's feeling," the singer said.

Rare Zoo Birds Beaten to Death

CHICAGO (UPI) — Nine rare birds were found beaten to death in their nests yesterday at the Lincoln Park zoo.

Zoo director Marlin Perkins said it apparently was the work of vandals "with very sick minds."

Slain were three wild turkeys from Texas, two demeselle cranes from India, a pair of crowned cranes from Africa, a Hutchins goose, and a rosey billed duck from South America.

Perkins said the vandals apparently used large sticks or baseball bats, stuffing the bodies under nests, boxes and a bank of a lagoon. One of the birds had been placed under a nesting box. The vandals apparently jumped up and down on the box until the bird died.

A similar attack last year by teenagers resulted in the death of seven birds and the wounding of five.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

BOURNEMOUTH—There wasn't a smile in the room, when I looked around the lower bar of Bournemouth Pavilion.

The place was packed with glum, travel-worn men and women, who had come there determined to enjoy a holiday in Bournemouth even if it killed them.

A great many of them had obviously just arrived, and were trying to get their bearings. I caught a distinct smell of mothballs from one man whose creased black coat had just been unpacked from a suitcase.

Wages have climbed faster than the cost of living, and many people now take more elaborate holidays than they could afford last year, or the year before.

Such resorts as Bournemouth have become human ant-heaps. The streets are crowded beyond belief with tense, worried-looking people.

I heard a number of north-country accents as I squeezed through the mob in search of a dry-cleaning shop. I made no attempt to go near the beach. Once I saw a group of lads laughing happily over a newspaper. It was France-Soir. (Numerous French youngsters are here for the summer, learning English.)

Elsewhere in Britain, there have been seven-hour traffic jams on roads that lead to holiday resorts. A car on "hire purchase" (installment buying) has now come within reach of millions of people who couldn't dream of owning a car, five years ago.

The more remote and peaceful resorts are being invaded by mobs of tourists.

It is a widely held belief in democratic countries that the good things of life should be available to everyone. But supposing we think of a quiet fishing village as one of the good things of life, and invite several million holidaymakers to enjoy it.

Then it ceases to be a quiet village. It's Coney Island. When some good things are made generally available, their value is destroyed. That may sound undemocratic, but it's true.

Bournemouth is in the mass-holiday business and one goes there prepared to wrestle with crowds.

"What pleasure do people get out of going around in herds?" I asked my cousin Barbara, who lives in a thatched cottage in a Dorset country village.

"They are quite herd-minded in England," Barbara said blandly. "I had always thought of Bournemouth as the most ghastly place in the world, the most frightful and hideous things went on."

"But I talked to a woman on a train who went into raptures about Bournemouth. She came from somewhere near Manchester. 'Aren't those colored lights beautiful?' she said, and she meant it. That gave me an entirely new outlook on Bournemouth. 'I never go near Bournemouth if I can help it.'"

GIAN SINGH

Sikh Rites Set

Ancient Sikh funeral services will be held for Gian Singh, 74, at 3 p.m. Thursday in Hayward's funeral home, Rev. Giani Sucha Singh officiating.

Born in Jundiala, India, in 1884, he died Tuesday while being taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

He came to Canada in 1906, living in Calgary and Vancouver before coming to Victoria in 1951. Cremation at Royal Oak will follow funeral services.

Frank W. Fielder

Funeral services for Frank William Fielder, 85, a resident of Victoria for 24 years, will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in St. John's Anglican Church.

Mr. Fielder, who was born in England in 1873, died Monday in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

He was established as a photographer in 1910 when he left England to settle in Winnipeg, where he joined the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada.

In 1935 he retired as advertising manager of the Winnipeg branch and came to Victoria. His company associates will act as pallbearers.

Mr. Fielder is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joyce Coulter, at the residence, 1790 Rockland Avenue; also nieces and nephews.

Gorge Bridge Widening Set at $8,000

Plans for widening the Gorge Bridge are being prepared by the provincial department of highways, Saanich municipal engineer Neville Life said last night.

The cost of the work, estimated at $8,000, will be shared between Saanich and Esquimalt councils and the provincial government. The government will contribute half the cost and the councils $2,000 each.

The road surface of the bridge will be extended 10 feet to the full width of the present structure. Additional sidewalks will be built outside the present bridge railing.

Shock treatment at the coal-face

One of the rigorous tests passed with honours by the Tudor Oyster Prince, was conducted 1,000 feet underground. This new self-winding wrist-watch, sponsored by Rolex of Geneva, was worn continuously by a miner, for no less than 252 hours at the coal-face.

Working with drill, hatchet, mallet, shovel and sledge, his Oyster Prince suffered such vibration as few self-winding watches would withstand.

How did the watch react? Incredibly enough, at the end of the six weeks, during which the watch was neither re-

West Must Sell Ideas

TORONTO (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said last night the Western world must start a sales campaign of its ideas to save the uncommitted nations from the Communist camp.

In an address to the International Junior Red Cross study centre, Diefenbaker said the West should make a "conscientious effort to make available books and periodicals which give a fair and objective picture of capitalism and its benefits."

Diefenbaker warned that otherwise "the contest for the minds of men may go by default, as the only literature available to many uncommitted countries is highly organized Communist propaganda available in every bookstore in every major language."

"To meet the aggressive propaganda of the Communist world the western world needs a truthful and aggressive salesmanship of its ideas and its ideals," the prime minister said. Illustrating his point Diefenbaker pointed out Communists are spreading false propaganda that financial help to nations such as the Colombo Plan is made for the purpose of assisting the resurgence of Colonialism.

He said Canada's aid has as its purpose to provide strong economic foundations in the countries concerned so that each may plan "their part in the world, without fear or want."

He said Canada has no territorial desires. Canada's purpose "is to do her part to assure peace in the world for she depends on trade and trade depends on peace."

LONDON (AP) — Communist China demanded Wednesday the evacuation of all American military advisers and equipment from Laos, claiming that the current fighting in the tiny Indochina kingdom was "engineered from first to last by the United States."

A foreign affairs spokesman for Mao Tse-tung's government accused the U.S. of threatening Red China's security and the peace of southeast Asia.

Reds claimed U.S. officers

PEIPING (Reuters) — The top leaders of Communist China are believed holding an important secret conference at present with the Khrushchev-Eisenhower visits in the offing and trouble brewing in the Indochina state of Laos.

There has been speculation that the central committee has been meeting in Shanghai, Wuhan or the mountain resort of Lushan.

The New Energy Board

THE prime minister seems to have done a good job in naming the men to head the new national energy board. Talent along this line in Canada there is, but it is not always easy to harness it to government service. The rewards of private enterprise for individuals of high attainment in any field are such that government appointments often mean too great a personal sacrifice.

The five-man board named combines what appears to be a requisite variety of skill and experience. Engineering, economics, construction and administrative knowledge are broadly represented, and the government has scored in having as chairman the head of the Alberta gas and conservation board. Since the export of oil and gas will be one important phase of the board's operations his advice and experience will be invaluable. Mr. Ian McKinnon will be on loan from Alberta only for two years, but by then national policy should be shaped and the board settled into its authority.

For British Columbians the chief interest centres on the naming of Mr. Lee Briggs to the new energy agency. The former power commission general manager sparked the furor last November over commission financial policies which led to his dismissal and to the Shrum royal commission, whose report has not yet been made. Mr. Briggs' zeal perhaps outran his discretion when he ventured on matters outside his competence, but of his integrity and devotion to what he conceived to be the best interests of public power there never was a shadow of doubt. There will be satisfaction that his services were available for the board to which he has now been named.

Discussion as to whether his appointment constitutes a "rebuttal" to the Bennett administration or a "vindication" of his campaign against James Bay are fruitless. One supposes Mr. Diefenbaker has too many pressing problems on hand to bother making political gestures of this kind. His aim would be to get the best men he could for the responsible task of directing the energy programs of Canada, and fortunately for that board, which Mr. Briggs should serve well, the latter was open for the appointment.

The terms of reference of the national energy board are wide. They include the best use of all forms of energy — presumably embracing nuclear development — coming within federal jurisdiction. Primarily there is the waiting disposition of oil and gas distribution, both export and import, presently suffering a hiatus for lack of settled federal policy. The new board has crucial matters to determine, and its composition seems suited to cope with the many problems sure to arise.

Not the Same Thing

PART of what Premier Bennett says about this being a unified area under the all-inclusive name of Victoria is perfectly correct and no one who knows or lives in Victoria needs to be informed of that fact. Geographically, socially and to some extent politically the municipalities of Greater Victoria are inseparable, and their boundaries invisible.

But in attempting to show that what benefits one benefits all, Mr. Bennett left out an important element, which is the crux of the City's dissatisfaction over disbursement of funds allocated by the Capital Improvement District Commission. That element is tax revenue. The unity which characterizes the relationships of the several municipalities of "Victoria" stops short of sharing costs, which in the case of civic amenities have to be borne disproportionately by the City. By the same token the cost of being the capital of the province falls almost exclusively on the City.

The municipalities jointly enjoy certain benefits from having the seat of government here, but the burden of providing all the costly services to tax-free government establishments has to be carried by the City alone. Even if the whole of the $200,000 allotted to the CIDC were spent in the City proper that would represent only a small fraction of the sum it would be getting each year if provincial holdings were not exempt from taxation.

The commission has completed many excellent projects and contemplates others of equal merit. All of these enhance Greater Victoria as a whole, and represent a form of provincial aid to the capital not undertaken by any previous government. But lack of appreciation for these benefits is not what prompts a reminder to Premier Bennett that they in no way help the City out of its financial worries. Nor are they quite what was expected from the pre-election promise of compensation for loss of revenue on provincial institutions.

Devising a Symbol

THE need to dramatize a situation to ensure sufficient attention is becoming part of the normal scene. Probably this stems from the complex nature of society and the conflicting claims which impinge on individuals and on the public mind generally. It is more difficult each day to pick out and weigh things in the balance, and thus ensure that something of importance does not fall by default.

Something of this reasoning will be behind the "Miss Red Feather" contest slated as a preliminary this year to the annual fall appeal of the Community Chest. Happily it is not a "beauty queen" affair, where exuberance and ballyhoo so often becloud the purpose of the promotion. The cause of the Chest would be harmed if harnessed only to a "stunt."

The winner, to be chosen from representative entrants from the 22 agencies in the Chest organization, will be symbolic of the "Red Feather" campaign. To that end the age limits are from four years to 17 years, a wide spread inviting diverse appeal for the judges concerned, but designed to point the factor of inspiration associated with the largest charity project of the community.

Offhand and without prejudice to the judges one might assume that a child, especially one from a welfare agency, would serve best the "inspirational" theme; but this is not to denigrate some comely young miss who might symbolize the Chest campaign with fidelity. The point is perhaps that the "Miss Red Feather" contest be kept within appropriate bounds. Such events tend to generate enthusiasm for themselves, but in this instance the contest must be subordinate to the serious aspect of Community Chest giving.

Adenauer First on List

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD
Associated Press Analyst

BONN, Germany — President Eisenhower is making his Aug. 27 visit to Bonn after an urgent invitation of Konrad Adenauer, the 83-year-old West German chancellor.

The arrangement is evidently designed to ease German fears of being left in the lurch as a result of the coming exchange of visits between Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

It puts Adenauer—regarded in some circles as the last of the Western cold war warriors advocating a continued tough attitude toward Moscow—first on the president's calling list.

Diplomatic observers had been expecting that Adenauer would go to London or Paris to see Eisenhower.

Informants said these considerations influenced the change.

1. Adenauer has been under heavy fire lately as the Kremlin's No. 1 target and therefore needed a demonstration of Western support.

2. West German worries about the possible outcome of the coming Eisenhower-Khrushchev exchanges would be dampened by a personal visit from the president.

Adenauer is reported worried about a trend away from the line of no compromise with Russia.

The German press has been openly sceptical. Some editorial writers have warned of the danger of a big-power settlement at Germany's expense. Others believe that Khrushchev will exploit his long-awaited American visit to the advantage of Communism.

All this strengthened the impression that Adenauer will have some strong views to express to Eisenhower.

And it appeared he wanted to express them first, in his own capital, before the president sees the other Western leaders.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I SUPPOSE we all stay in character when the pinch comes. If we are commonly thought to be cheerful blokes we automatically assume a blithe look in public. Secretly we may be feeling morose and ill-natured but for the sake of our reputation we must put on a front.

Assuming, that is, that one can. This writer finds it very difficult to suit his face to his mood, assumed or otherwise, if only because it insists on falling into dolorous patterns. How often I have been assailed by advice to "cheer up," when, actually, inside I'm as bright as a lark.

How do we know, by the way, that larks are always at the top of their form? Are they never allowed a day off either, or, putting it in other guise, might they not have doleful moments too?

Public relations, as the world has come to know them, are really a depressing force. They stop one from being natural.

This theme was exemplified this week when Bob Hope came to town. Naturally, being the star-lit comedian he is, he had to live up to his reputation. Not for him the sneaky entrance into Victoria—fashioned in pre-war days by Hollywoodians who came here because they could stroll unnoticed and unrecognized.

That, as the late H. B. Warner once told yours truly, was what made this city a paradise for his ilk.

Mr. Hope, of course, would find it difficult to be inconspicuous anywhere. As with Gracie Fields when she stepped off the CPR boat many years ago, he was mobbed. And, like Gracie, he had to play up.

One judges he plays up wherever he goes, doubtless thus adding to his popularity but also because, unlike some other celluloid and television comedians, he has no trouble adorning his wisecracks. Some of these may be fashioned for his program by the gag writers but offstage his wit is heaven-sent. If it does not always attain the purity of high humor it enlivens his listeners, and after all the chief stock-in-trade of modern comedians is not humor but wit, usually in the form of the retort we call a wisecrack.

So it was that when Mr. Hope touched the soil of this Little Bit of Olde England, enhanced as it was by the enticing if incongruous tones of the bagpipe, he fell immediately into character.

Not, for all we know, the character of today, sitting as he may be in a boat quietly fishing somewhere up-Island; but in the character of his reputation.

The customers get what they deserve, they say. So Mr. Hope gives it to them. He extends a pinkie as he samples ye olde cup of tea; he cocks an ear, perhaps a shrinking one, at the bagpiper, and he demonstrates how snappy his mind can be by getting off a score of witticisms.

So that when he has signed the autographs that plague his kind a small boy can say: "Pretty comical."

I wonder if Mr. Hope ever gets tired of it; gets tired of always having to play the same part, offstage as well as on. He could be excused if he did.

But then, he has a naturally cheerful look. Comedians are often lugubrious in appearance, but he suggests that being a jester is really to his liking.

Quite obviously it is to the liking of a lot of other people, anyway.

Reports From Ottawa

(During Mr. Waring's temporary absence from Ottawa, his column is being written by Peter Stursberg, well-known Canadian journalist and broadcaster.)

NOW that the army is taking over responsibility for "national survival," which is the first major change in organization since the government began planning for civil defence a dozen years ago, one might have expected some change in policy as well. But there is none.

Evacuation is still the only civil defence measure contemplated—evacuation of 13 major cities and industrial areas. The army's job is re-entry of devastated areas, and rescue.

Civil defence chiefs still talk glibly about being able to evacuate Toronto in 11 hours. Such calculations are based on slide rules. They do not take the human element into account. And, in any case, there is not going to be 11 hours for evacuation.

It seems to me that at best evacuation is a policy of desperation; at worst, it is suicidal madness. There is no point in my saying that the policy is out-of-date. I believe it should never have been adopted in the first place. It could not have worked if there had been three to six hours warning, and in the missile age, with a mere 15 to 20 minutes warning, it becomes farcical if it were not so serious and tragic in its possible consequences.

The civil defence workers who argue in favor of evacuation admit that it will bring the country to a standstill, but they say that will happen in any case if there were a nuclear attack. They assert that evacuation is the only way to save lives.

This is carrying humanitarianism to such extremes that the fate of Canada and the Canadian people are jeopardized.

The fact of the matter is that, with the policy of evacuation, the country could be destroyed without a single bomb being dropped on it.

An enemy bomber force flying over the DEW line could be headed for Detroit or Chicago, but that would not be known here, and all the cities in its possible path—Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Niagara Falls, all 13 of them—would have to be emptied.

Thousands would be killed and injured in a panic-stricken rush to get out into the country. There would be deaths from epidemics in the summer and from exposure in the winter. Much of the complicated machinery of civilization would break down.

All this could happen without a single bomb being dropped on Canadian territory.

Civil defence officials admit that, with the possible exception of such prairie cities as Calgary, there would be chaos. But they say that this is because the public is not familiar with the details of the evacuation plan, and they complain that they haven't got enough publicity men to inform the people.

I am thankful they haven't. As it is, too many people are going to drive wildly out of the cities on the first alarm.

Evacuation has been adopted as official policy because it is the easy way out. It gives the appearance of the government doing something to protect the population. It saves the trouble and cost of devising a civil defence system which will meet the threat insofar as it can be met.

There is no defence against the blast effect of a nuclear explosion except distance. In a nuclear war those fortunate enough to be outside the effective blast area will survive—but perhaps not for long unless they have adequate protection against radiation. Provision for such protection, in the form of basement radiation shelters, should be a prime concern of the CD authorities. So far—officially, at any rate—it is not.

Poison for Privacy

By GREGORY CLARK

A NATURE lover of my acquaintance loves all nature except human nature. Thirty miles from the city he has a charming little hideaway of about six acres of woodland which he most carefully preserves in its unspoiled state. And there he has a cottage and spends his holidays and weekends, summer and winter, communing with the birds, the squirrels and groundhogs, or the occasional fox that wanders into the sanctuary. His intention is to have a little island of lovely solitude to which he can quickly retire from the inferno of the city.

To preserve his privacy, the cottage is not in view of the concession road that bounds one side of his property. It's at the back, hidden. Therefore, he is plagued by all sorts of passers-by who, on seeing a delightful bit of woodland, decide to have a picnic on it. Sportsmen from the city, in search of something to kill, can't resist the appeal of so unspoiled a bush.

To deter them, our nature lover invested in about $150 worth of ordinary

Boston ivy plants which, over the past three or four years, he has induced to grow in great profusion all along the fences and roadside of that part of the property he cannot watch from his cottage. And at suitable intervals, he has set up signs: "Poison Ivy. Warning. Keep Out."

It has worked beautifully. He hasn't seen any intruders on his property all summer except one who came through to inform him that what was around his place was not poison ivy but ordinary harmless Boston ivy.

Our nature lover pretended to be greatly relieved by this information, and the solitary intruder went on his way rejoicing that he had enlightened a fellow being.

—CHARLES KINGLEY.

Autumn Crisis Recedes

By W. N. EWER, from London

THE picture of the international scene has been radically changed by the announcement of the coming "top level" visits of Mr. Khrushchev to the United States, of President Eisenhower to the Soviet Union, and, as a preliminary, of the President to Europe.

Until the invitations were sent and accepted, the outlook had been, to my mind, a sombre one.

The Geneva foreign ministers' conference, after 10 weeks, was clearly adjourning without any settlement of the Berlin problem. It had indeed "clarified," to some extent, the positions of the two sides on a number of questions. It had narrowed some of the differences on some of those questions. Had nothing happened, however, there might have been sharp divergences of view as to whether the progress of negotiations would justify the holding of an early "summit."

To pick up the threads of negotiation would then have been anything but easy.

And there was, to say the least of it, the possibility that the Soviet government would feel itself not merely free but even bound to take some kind of "unilateral action" with regard to West Berlin—for example, to sign the threatened separate peace treaty with East Germany; and to hand over control of Berlin's lines of communication with Western Germany and the western world.

All the elements would have been there for the creation, or the development, of a really serious crisis in the autumn.

That has all been changed: the possibility of a "summit" meeting has been kept open. The president, it is true, was careful, at his press conference, only to speak of a "possible later summit" meeting and to say that his talks with Mr. Khrushchev would have no "direct" relation to it. But the possibility remains very much there; and there is a widespread expectation that the Big Four will meet either towards the end of this year or early in the new year.

A member of the British delegation in Geneva is reported to have remarked, some days before the invitation was sent to Mr. Khrushchev: "If this meeting ends without agreement, one thing we shall have to do is to look for new ways toward the 'summit.' That, it seems to me, is precisely what has happened."

But, to my mind, even more important is the fact that an autumn crisis now seems to be ruled out of any sane reckoning. For it is surely unthinkable that between now and President Eisenhower's visit to Moscow Mr. Khrushchev would take any "unilateral action" with regard to Berlin, or do anything which might make that visit either impossible or embarrassing.

We can surely now count confidently on a respite for at least three months. During these months there will be the top-level Soviet-American talks. The foreign ministers, who will all be in New York for the United Nations Assembly, will almost certainly take that opportunity, as they have before, for talks, conceivably for further negotiations, between themselves.

It is, in fact, a quite different picture from that of the week before the announcement. And a far less gloomy one.

At the same time it would be foolish to be over-optimistic. The differences between the Soviet Union and the Western powers remain. And only the most wishful of wishful thinkers can imagine that they can be resolved by a few days' conversations between heads of governments, when the foreign ministers have failed to resolve them during patient weeks.

It is not "the foreign ministers" who are unable to reach a settlement in Geneva, but the governments whose spokesmen and representatives they are. Mr. Gromyko, for example, has taken the line which he has because he was instructed to do so by Mr. Khrushchev. Nor, though many people seem to think so, is there any magic or miraculous power in the mere fact of holding a summit meeting.

So the outlook for the future remains an anxious one. But one's feeling that a new and perhaps dangerous crisis might be close ahead has eased. Negotiations (or I suppose one should say discussions) will go on in one form or another for several months to come.

And even though one may hesitate to say more than that, that in itself is, when one looks back a week or two, "quite something."

Begging Strikers Should Be Ashamed

So the union leaders are going hat in hand begging for food, for the strikers, while our old-age pensioners get a little food doled out to them at the free food stall.

Have any of these strikers ever been really "up against it," I wonder? Do they know what it is to go without refrigerators, big cars, and above all, of course, television sets, let alone enough food and heat? It would be interesting to know how many strikers have television sets.

I would suggest that if the merchants have any potatoes to spare, they be given to the old age pensioners. I marvel that the strikers are not ashamed to accept them.

Right to Privacy

In part I take exception to Mr. A. W. K. Gordon's letter published in the Colonist of Saturday, Aug. 8, re access to the Cowichan River, and would like to point out several things which perhaps Mr. Gordon and your readers have not thought of.

Mr. Gordon mentions and I quote, "at least six owners of land block approaches to the river (Cowichan) with warning notices." First I would like to point out to Mr.

Gordon that I know three of the properties of which he speaks on the River Bottom Road between Duncan and Skutumpah. I happen to own one of the properties, namely the old Rattray property, and as far as blocking access to the river is concerned on my property, there never was access other than for myself. The new house up the river from me I presume is now in the same category. The property down the river of which he speaks, with signs, "Private, Keep Off," is also privately owned and I know the gentleman who owns it.

The road of which Mr. Gordon speaks was put in by the owner of this property for his own private use. He pays taxes on this property but for many years this road was not blocked and was so misused by the fishermen and public to the extent that the owner of the land had some very expensive logging equipment stolen from it. In addition to this, for the past five or six weeks there have been people camping on the property, thereby creating a fire hazard. Therefore I am in complete agreement with owners erecting warning signs. None of us wish our beautifully treed properties to go up in smoke.

In most cases people on the Cowichan River have these properties purely for fishing and relaxation; they pay for the land, pay the taxes, pay the upkeep and into the bargain are continually getting their properties broken into and their possessions stolen. We also pay for our fishing licences. Now it is suggested that we share our river frontage with the general public. I wonder if Mr. Gordon owned land on the Cowichan River, would he share his small fishing pool with the general public?

(Mrs.) M. BOWDEN.

3771 Haro Road.

Fishing the Cowichan

It is good to see concern over the Cowichan River shown in your correspondence columns. What has actually happened since the "good old days" referred to?

(1) Continuing logging has consistently worked against increased summer flow and reduction of winter floods; (2) the native cut-throat has declined in numbers; (3) fishing pressure has increased; (4) access has been curtailed; (5) some pollution has taken place; (6) no scientific work has been done on the river since Dr. Ferris Neave and his associates' study many years ago.

On the credit side can be counted: (a) The B.C. Forest Products weir, which should help to control stream flow; (b) an increase in numbers of brown trout; (c) a maintenance, or at any rate not too great a decline, in the numbers of steelhead and rainbow trout.

It is clearly time for the authorities to take a hard look at this most splendid resource to ensure its future preservation. Some steps, such as reimposing the ban on salmon eggs, are obviously necessary. The size limit should be raised to protect steelhead parr. Fishing round the weir should be forbidden. Everything possible should be done to increase summer flow, preferably by raising the weir. Access to the Sahltem area should be assured.

I suppose it is an idle dream to wish for the whole valley to be acquired as a provincial park?

A. L. BRISTOWE.

1383 St. Patrick Street.

Nothing to Hide

Refusing to try to end the current steel strike before Soviet premier Khrushchev's visit to the U.S. next month, President Eisenhower yesterday called suggestion "shallow thinking." "Don't we want Mr. Khrushchev to see the U.S. as a freedom-loving place?" he asked. "Why should we worry too much about the fact that people can strike ... in this country?"

Even Military Bases

Khrushchev Can See What He Likes

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower said yesterday that Premier Khrushchev is being invited to see some military installations during his visit to the United States if he wishes.

The Soviet leader will be given a wide range of choice on the kind of installations open to him, the president told a press conference. But if he does not want to see any establishments, that will be agreeable to Eisenhower too.

Khrushchev told a Moscow press conference last Wednesday that if he were invited to see an American military installation "I would not go."

He added he would go to the U.S. as a peaceful man and would not have any rocket sticking out of his pocket.

Discussing the unprecedented Khrushchev visit beginning in mid-September, Eisenhower said he intends to tell the Soviet leader that U.S. bases abroad are purely defensive and threaten no one.

He also plans to ask why Khrushchev does not permit the progress in improvement of East-West relations which Eisenhower considers necessary for a summit conference.

Eisenhower also said he hopes his talks with Khrushchev will produce a better atmosphere between the Soviet Union and the Western powers. But he does not intend to act as a spokesman for the West.

Eisenhower does not plan to accompany Khrushchev on his tour around the U.S.

Diving Apparatus 'Very, Very Unsafe'

PORT COQUITLAM (CP)—

A coroner's jury, studying a drowning here called Wednesday for a "thorough investigation of all diving equipment" being used in British Columbia.

It recommended that the attorney-general's department forbid the sale of any diving equipment considered unsafe. The jury found particular fault with a type of skin-diving breathing apparatus which has a ball on top to cut off water automatically when the diver submerges.

Herbert Oxtoby, 15, was wearing the same type of snorkel apparatus when he drowned Sunday in a slough near here.

Hugh Stroyan, described as a skin-diving expert, testified the type of snorkel involved was considered "very, very unsafe" and said skin-diving clubs here want it outlawed.

He said "general stores just sell these things to anyone who walks in. It is like giving a child a rifle without proper instructions."

GENEVA PARK, Lake Cou-

"I have yet to see anyone who has gone to Asia from Canada, the United States, Britain or Europe, who would go to the trouble of learning the language of the people," he said. "How are you to establish contact with foreign peoples without being able to communicate with them?"

Market Vote Friday

A special meeting of city council has been called for Friday at 8.30 p.m. to give final consideration to a by-law clearing the way for demolition of the public market building.

Reason for the evening meeting, an unusual event in Victoria city, is that only at that time could enough pro-demolition aldermen be rounded up to ensure passage of the by-law.

Of the eight aldermen, Ald. Austin Curtis is in hospital recovering from an operation, Ald. D. J. Proudfoot is in Britain, Ald. Hugh Ramsay is in Vancouver, but will be back in Victoria Friday evening; Ald. M. H. Mooney is against the by-law, and one or two others wouldn't have been able to attend an afternoon meeting today or Friday.

Although final approval of the by-law appears certain, it still may face attack.

Veteran public market stallholder Attilio Randy, who spent two nights in the market in a demonstration of opposition to the planned demolition, said yesterday he and the other members of the Society for the Preservation of the Public Market were still fighting.

They Sparked the Stampede

Original gold which sparked the "trail of '98" gold rush was used in historic necklace displayed here by Marion Mezger, 2169 Fair.

Nuggets Launched Wild Era

When sourdoughs from all over North America converge on Victoria Aug. 27 to 29 they will see some of the original Bonanza Creek nuggets which sparked the mighty Yukon gold rush.

The nuggets—54 of them—are the property of a Victoria couple, Mr. and Mrs. Max Boas, 1239 Tattersall and have been made up in the form of a necklace.

On the heels of their discovery by a white man and two Indians on Bonanza Creek, Aug. 17, 1896, came the most fabulous period in Canadian mining history—the "trail of '98."

GOLDEN HORDE

The historic nuggets were the forerunner of a golden horde which poured out of the Yukon River watershed at a rate of $100,000,000 in the eight years from 1897 to 1904.

The nugget necklace was given to Mr. Boas by his mother, who in turn received the gold as a gift from "Skookum" Jim and "Tagish" Charlie, two of the three original discoverers on Bonanza Creek.

Along with other gold brought out by the trio, the nuggets laid the scene for an era of boom town growth, gambling, dancetowns, quick riches, privation and sudden death which has never been equalled.

SWELLED CITY

In two years it swelled the population of Dawson City from practically nothing to 25,000.

In a single year—1900—gold production from the area which yielded "the Boas" nuggets reached $22,275,000.

When sourdoughs gather here 400-strong for the annual reunion of the International Alaska-Yukon Sourdoughs many of them will see for the first time the original gold which drew them north more than half a century ago.

Why Such a Delay For Cheerful Farce?

By CLYDE GILMOUR
A. E. Matthews, the oldest star actor in the English-speaking theatre and possibly the oldest in the world, was 87 when "Carry On, Admiral" was filmed in England a couple of years ago. For the life of me I can't imagine why this zany, cheerful farce has been so long delayed as an export item.

Anyway, the unabashedly all-British "Carry On, Admiral" is here at last. (It's at the Odeon.) And it's pretty good fun.

The story deals with the mix-up caused by the old-buddies reunion of a Royal Navy lieutenant-commander (Brian Reece), who is about to take command of a destroyer, and an utterly nonsensical civilian (David Tomlinson).

The young men innocently "water" their Scotch with gin and clownishly exchange clothes before brutish torpor ends their festivities.

The ensuing complications are more often hearty than witty, but director Guest and his nimble cast keep them bouncing merrily.

Eunice Gayson as the admiral's shapely granddaughter is a distracting vision.

Police put a choke hold on a rioter at Little Rock's Central High School, and an unidentified spectator helps hustle the man to a paddy wagon.

Clubs Enforce Integration

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Two Negroes went to Central High School Wednesday as club-swinging police held back a crowd of jeering segregationists.

Elizabeth Eckford, 17, and Jefferson Thomas, 16, walked quietly into the school to join 1,400 white students.

A block away, nearly 400 white men, women and children milled at an intersection.

TURNED HOSES

Some in the crowd had taken part in a march on Central from the state legislative buildings. Governor Orval Faubus told a segregationist rally there that nothing was to be gained by fighting in the streets.

Police Chief Gene Smith and a score of patrolmen shouted for the paraders to disperse but his order brought yells of defiance and cries of "you cowards."

Swiftly officers closed with

Victoria Press Hosts

Victoria Press Ltd. will be host to about 100 delegates and their wives in a Western Classified Advertising Association convention at the Empress Hotel Aug. 23 to 26.

It will be the first time the association has met in Victoria, and the first time in more than 20 years it has met in Canada. The convention will be held in conjunction with the Pacific Northwest Classified Advertising Group meeting.

Presiding over delegates from Alberta, British Columbia and 13 western states including Alaska will be Sid Sidaway, new retail advertising manager of Victoria Press Ltd.

Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist, will welcome the group to Victoria.

Illegal Fires Cost Pair $25 Each

Two men charged separately by the British Columbia Forest Service for allowing employees to light fires without permits were each fined $25 in Colwood police court yesterday.

Charged as the employer of a person who lit a fire in the View Royal area July 8 without a permit was William Tytler, 1705 Kings Road. Similarly charged was Helmut Gintaut, 2358 Esplanade, for a fire on July 6.

Both men pleaded guilty to the charges which were laid by Langford officials of the BCFS.

Chest Picks Chairmen

Two new division chairmen have been announced for the 1959 Greater Victoria Community Chest appeal — R. H. Mayhew for the special gifts section and Bob Phipps for the large firms and executives section.

Target for the campaign, which will begin Sept. 25 with a torchlight parade to the mainland by water skis, is $325,000.

Complaints Stop Film In Middle

INDIO, Calif. (AP)—A theatre stopped a movie in the middle after parents protested scenes dealing with rape and dope.

A theatre spokesman told of complaints from several mothers who attended a showing of "The Beat Generation" with their children.

The show was stopped. The management hadn't seen the film before screening it. After looking at it, the spokesman said, "we also considered it a kind of immoral picture."

(The film has been banned in Saskatchewan and passed, with cuts, in Alberta.)

the METAL that
to your pocket!

The pocket radio was made possible by transistors. Transistors use a strange metal that squeaks when you bend it, melts at cake-baking temperature and is so soft you can cut it easily with a knife. An elusive metal, too, Cominco spent many years developing a method of extracting the minute quantities present in each ton of ore.

Today we can make this metal — Tadanac Brand Indium — 99.9999% pure and we are one of the world's largest suppliers.

Indium is a newcomer to the industrial metal field. Already it is finding important applications in, for example, high quality bearings for aircraft, diesel and car engines; fire protection equipment; radio-activity indicators and scientific equipment manufacture. The list is steadily growing and "the Metal That Brings a Band" promises to have an even more exciting future as its unique properties are utilized to the full.

Everybody Friendly at Fight's End

Despite heavy barrage of uncomplimentary pre-fight statements, Yvon Durelle, left, Archie Moore and Arch's wife were laughing it up after Moore had knocked out the Baie Ste. Anne fisherman to retain world light heavyweight championship at Montreal Forum last night.—(AP Photofax.)

Moore Knocks Out Durelle To Equal Title Defence Mark

MONTREAL (UPI)—Champion Archie Moore, apparently powered by age, floored Canadian Yvon Durelle four times last night for a knockout in the third round of their return title fight and equalled the light-heavyweight division's record for eight successful title defenses.

Durelle, brawny Canadian fisherman, hit the deck the same number of times he did in their Dec. 10 brawl before being counted out at 2:52 of the third round.

But he failed to score a single knockdown against 43-year-old Archie, who had gone down four times in his December thriller before belting out Yvon in the 11th round. Referee Jack Sharkey counted out Durelle as he lay helplessly on his back, with blood pouring from his nose and mouth, down for the fourth time in the third round.

The count-out extended Moore's all-time all-division knockout record to 128 and extended his unbeaten string to 17 bouts. At the same time, Archie's eighth successful defence equalled the record of Maxie Rosenbloom, who lost the light-heavy title when he risked it the ninth time against Bob Olin in 1934.

Moore, weighing 174½ pounds to Durelle's 173, fought on fairly even terms with the aggressive, wild-hooking French Canadian in the first two rounds, but at the very beginning of the third, cunning old Archie, wearing a five-day mustachio and face beard, went to work on him.

STAGGERS YVON Archie, who had been shaken up by Yvon with a long, solid left, jarred him with a sneaker to the face. Then he staggered him with a left-right to the head. He kept battering at the reeling challenger until a right hook sent Yvon slithering down the ropes for another knockdown and nine-count. On his feet, Durelle was battered about the ring until another right to the face sent him half way through the ropes and then down onto the canvas for a knockdown and six count.

ROSE AGAIN The game Canadian rose again and was battered to the canvas on his back. He tried to rise once and then fell back helplessly, as he was counted out.

It was Yvon's 21st defeat in 101 fights, and his eighth knockout loss.

Two of the three judges had Archie winning both the first and second rounds on points, but the third judge gave Yvon the second round. The United Press International had Moore ahead in the first two sessions.

The crowd in Montreal forum was estimated at 11,000 and the gate at $155,000. Moore, favored at 13-5, was guaranteed $175,000 against 40 per cent of the gate and 40 per cent of the $125,000 television money. Durelle was guaranteed $15,000 against 20 per cent of gate and TV.

They made the Inter-City Lacrosse League playdowns last night with an easy, 16-9 conquest of New Westminster O'Keefe's, a result which put them mathematically out of reach of Nanaimo's Labatts, who'll be sitting out post-season play for the first time since 1952.

It was the third win in a row for the Shamrocks, who were all but out of the play-off picture only eight days back, and as easy a two points as the Victoria club is likely to ever get.

The best-of-five semi-final will open next Monday with Shamrocks playing the Carlings at Vancouver. It's here for the second game next Wednesday, back to Vancouver for the third the following Friday. If more games are needed, they'll be the following Monday in Vancouver and the next Wednesday here.

Operating against a defence that was a lot less dull than anything they are likely to see in the playdowns, the Shamrocks had a romp as they moved the ball exceptionally well and riddled rookie Les Norman's averages with a fine display of accurate shooting before 2,601 fans.

NO CONTEST It was strictly no contest after the second quarter, in which the Rocks got the ball past Norman seven times in just over eight minutes to take a 9-2 lead into the second half.

They increased their margin to 13-4 by the end of the third quarter, got the first goal of the final 15 minutes, then eased up as O'Keefe's got four in a row to make it more respectable.

Al Gill, the balding young veteran who has been a stand-out all season, led the Shamrocks with two goals and three assists in his attacking contribution and was his usual ball-hawking self in a fine display.

Al Davies, who has improved tremendously in recent games, Whitey Severson, Ron Jay, Jackie Showers and Tom Collett also collected two goals each while Jim McNeill, the club's leading goal-getter, reversed things a bit by picking up three assists to go with his 40th goal.

Lions vs. Bombers, Pupil vs. Teacher

VANCOUVER (CP) — The apprentice challenges his instructor tonight as British Columbia Lions and the Grey Cup champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers open the Canadian football season's play-for-keeps schedule.

The apprentice says he's got a definite advantage—but it may not be enough to win. Wayne Robinson, hard-driving taskmaster of the Lions, runs up against Bud Grant, third-year Bomber genius who last year had Robinson as an assistant as the club went to the Western Interprovincial Football Union championship, then won the national title.

"Sure, it's a definite advantage," said Robinson when asked if his work during the last two years as an assistant to Grant would be of any great benefit in planning for tonight's game.

"It gives him an advantage, too, but I know his personnel a lot better than he knows mine."

Questions have been raised here during the last week on whether or not Robinson's personnel will do the job, particularly after Lions took a 35-14 licking in their last exhibition game against Ottawa Rough Riders.

Robinson wouldn't make any predictions on the point today. He says the club has been hurt by the injury to Canadian end and corner linebacker Bruce Claridge, a rookie who has played first-string for the Washington University for a couple of years. Canadian guard Marty Martinelli also is out with an injury.

BAILEY BENCHED

These have brought Robinson to a decision apparently unpopular among many Vancouver fans—he'll bench veteran import fullback Bailey for the game.

"By doesn't play any defensive ball," said Robinson Wednesday, "and he'll sit this one out because we feel we've got to have strength at some spots where only our imports can help."

The 12 imports Robinson will dress are expected to include quarterbacks Al Dorow and Randy Duncan, but the Lions coach wouldn't confirm this Wednesday.

Linebacker Ted Tully, obtained from Edmonton Eskimos, will dress, having recovered sufficiently from a wrenched back that kept him out of last week's Ottawa exhibition.

Bombers, who flew from Winnipeg in time to hold a full workout here Wednesday evening, brought 29 players, leaving at home halfback Gordie Rowland with a pinched nerve in his neck and end Norm Rauhaus, on the shelf through illness.

Kenny Ploen, from the same school as Duncan—Iowa—is expected to get the starting quarterback assignment for Bombers while Jim Van Pelt, Michigan graduate who took the quarter assignment last year when Ploen was hurt and then held it, will go as defensive safety.

Tonight's game is the first in the 16-game WIFU schedule. Calgary Stampede open their season Friday night against Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina and the league's fifth team, Edmonton Eskimos, get into action in Monday's two-game schedule. Lions are in Edmonton and Bombers in Calgary Monday.

Vancouver Youngster, 15 Defeats Ada MacKenzie

TORONTO — Gayle Hitchens, an unranked 15-year-old from Vancouver, pulled off one of the biggest upsets in the history of the Canadian women's golf championship here Wednesday by defeating 65-year-old Ada MacKenzie of Toronto.

Miss Hitchens walloped Ada 6 and 5 in a second-round match featuring the youngest and oldest players competing in the tournament. One of the all-time great women golfers, in Canada, Ada won the first of five open titles nearly 40 years ago.

Miss Hitchens' triumph was the only win registered by a western Canada entry. Five others were beaten in the first two rounds.

Defending champion Marlene Stewart Street of Toronto headed the list of other winners yesterday with a 2 and 1 victory over Mrs. G. A. Cole, formerly Betty Stanhope, of Edmonton.

Mary Gay of Calgary, five-time runner-up since she first lost in the 1954 final, bowed 4 and 2 to Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Jo Ann Percy of Vancouver, an 18-year-old who teamed with Miss Hitchens last week to win the inter-provincial junior team title, lost a 1-up match to tournament-veteran Mrs. Mary Jane McCarter of Toronto.

The MacKenzie-Hitchens match saw the former win only two holes, the 12th and 13th after being six down at the turn and seven behind on the 11th. Miss Hitchens carded eight pars and a birdie on the front nine.

First Place Almost Sure For Pages

Pages all but sewed up the Amateur Baseball League title Wednesday night at Royal Athletic Park by scoring five runs in the second inning and coasting to a 6-2 win over Eagles.

League play will be halted until the Babe Ruth playoffs, opening tonight at Royal Athletic, are completed. Officials of the senior amateur league have already discussed cancelling remaining scheduled games and it is expected this will be done before the end of the week.

Pages put together five hits, two errors and a walk to overcome a 1-0 deficit last night. Berlyn Hodges, striking out 11, was the winner with a neat four-hitter while veteran Art Wright was the loser.

Art Wright and Jim Moody, Berlyn Hodges and Kieran O'Neill.

Fraser Bows, Sick with Flu

OTTAWA — Victoria's John Fraser bowed, 6-1, 6-0, to top-seeded Canadian Harry Fauquier as play reached the quarter-finals of the Canadian junior open tennis championship here Wednesday.

Fraser, battling a bout with the flu, dropped out of the doubles competition after his loss to Fauquier.

B.C. Babe Ruth Champions Open Tourney Play Tonight

One of the biggest minor baseball tournaments ever held on Vancouver Island, the Regional Babe Ruth playdowns, opens tonight at Royal Athletic Park with provincial champion New Westminster meeting The Dalles, Ore., all-stars.

Eight teams will participate in the four-day tournament that concludes Sunday with a single afternoon game for the regional championship.

New Westminster and The Dalles get things underway at 7:00 p.m. Pre-game ceremonies begin 15 minutes earlier with Victoria Mayor Percy Scurrell officiating.

Tonight's game will feature two of the tournament's stronger teams. The Dalles, managed by Noel Erickson, are a solid club right down the line. Pitching is probably the team's best point but The Dalles also possesses a strong infield.

New Westminster, representing B.C. after winning two earlier tournaments, is managed by Ron Furness. "We've a good hitting team and have three pitchers that are probably as good as any in this tournament," said Furness.

"We played some terrific ball to win the B.C. tourney and we don't intend to stop now. I think we can go all the way."

Following tonight's opener, the tournament moves into high gear with a doubleheader scheduled for Friday night at Royal Athletic Park. Casper, Wyoming, meets highly regarded Seattle King County all-stars at 6:30 while Victoria and Alaska follow at 8:30.

Both Victoria and Alaska were automatic entrants, the latter club from Ketchikan being an all-star team from the only Babe Ruth league in that area.

Wallace, Idaho, and Glendive, Montana, play Saturday afternoon at 1:30 to complete first-round play of the sudden-death tournament.

Most of the eight teams watched their first lacrosse game last night at Memorial Arena. Tonight they get serious.

It Finally Happened

PANAMA CITY, Fla. (AP) — A greyhound finally caught a rabbit Tuesday night at the Washington County Kennel Club track at Ebro.

In the eighth race No. 3, Dark Glow, was spun completely around in a collision on a turn and took off again in the wrong direction. The dog eluded leadout boys and track officials and ran smack into the lure and the rest of the field near the finish line. Officials ruled no race and refunded all wagers.

Energy Board

Gives Fillip To Gas Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — Late profit clipped industrialists for most of their early gains but western oils, especially those with gas interests, remained strong to lead the stock market to a fair gain in moderate trading.

On index, industrialists saw their early two point win dwindle to one-half point in the final minutes. Western oils were pulling away at the close, up more than two points.

Gold added more than three-quarters while base metals moved ahead one-third, after being up and down throughout the session.

The final volume was 2,492,000 shares, somewhat better than Tuesday's 1,957,000.

The appointment of a National Energy Board provided a boost for gas issues in the expectation that export applications might soon be given hearing.

TransCanada one of the early leaders, lost its gain and closed unchanged at 28 1/2.

Alberta Gas Trunk Line was the leader, up 1 1/2 at 29 1/2.

Northern Ontario Natural Gas added 1/2 at 17 1/2.

Great Plains Development was the leader among western oils, up 1 1/2 at 45 1/2.

Edmonton added 1/2 at 25 1/2 while 1/2 wins went to Canada Husky, Home B and Hudson's Bay.

NHA Loans Hard to Find

By HARRY YOUNG Colonist Business Editor

In these days of tight money, National Housing Loans are not easy to find. Yet in the first seven months of 1959, 3,313 such loans were granted in B.C. from various sources.

The best bet, so far this year, has been the chartered banks. Figures supplied by the Central Mortgage and Housing shows that 47 per cent of NHA loans in B.C. were provided by the banks. Other lending institutions provided the funds for 15 per cent.

The remaining 38 per cent was provided by the Central Mortgage and Housing through government funds.

But while banks have provided the bulk of the money for this year's NHA home construction, the prospect of getting a loan from the banks at the moment is not so good.

Rising interest rates have decreased the attraction of NHA loans to the banks, and at least one leading bank has not had funds for NHA loans for the past four months.

Others are making them out only for very special customers.

At the present time best opportunity is from CMHC itself. The government agency is willing to consider applications if applicants can prove inability to raise the money elsewhere.

The difficulties of borrowing money for housing are reflected in the drop in the number of single and multiple unit starts in the province. The 1959 total to the end of July was 7,789 against 9,131 a year ago.

In the Victoria area the housing starts are 885, against 909 a year ago.

BRITISH STEEL — In order that the construction of its new iron and steel smelter at Kimberley will not be delayed by the U.S. steel strike, Consolidated Mining and Smelting announces it has ordered steel for the buildings and storage bins from United Kingdom sources.

Dominion Bridge is starting on the construction work, while Foundation Company of Canada is preparing the concrete footings.

Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company has contracted to supply coking coal for the operation.

Campers Pioneer New Parks

Lack of Hygiene May Force Action

Greater use by campers of cleared places on out-of-the-way lakes and rivers may force creation of a number of new parks on Vancouver Island and elsewhere in British Columbia within the next year, a provincial parks spokesman said yesterday.

He said the campsite building program for this fall and winter may have to be revamped and curtailed because toilets and garbage pits will have to be provided at scores of backwoods camping spots vacationers are finding.

FIXED POLICY

It is recreation department policy only to spend money for development in parks, and to provide facilities in other areas it will be necessary to create parks out of property now held as reserves.

There are 1,800 park reserves in the province in addition to the 129 parks which include 80 different campsites and 2,000 camping units.

BUTLE LAKE

One of the big problems facing the parks department is the Buttle Lake playground which on weekends now is crowded with eager campers.

Since a Colonist article brought action on securing a proper access to Buttle Lake there have been as many as 500 campers there on a weekend.

But there is only one toilet and parks branch officials appealed to campers to take along shovels and bury the refuse and garbage. Otherwise the area is in danger of being contaminated for future camping use.

SAME ALL OVER

"We must do something and we will," said the parks spokesman. But he explained it is the same all over the province.

Sayward Forest area beyond Campbell River is being used by hundreds of campers who fish the abundance of lakes there including Mohun Lake, Morton Lake, Blackwater Lake, Trout Lake and Roberts Lake, to mention a few.

GOOD ACCESS

Forest access roads which were used for reforestation provide good access to these lakes and a recently published map in the Campbell River districts points out the way. The parks department has reserves there, to be developed eventually, but it is now under the forest service.

FAVORED SPOTS

Revamping of the parks building program will probably include creation of parks in the Sayward Forest and provision of minimum facilities next year at some of the favored camping spots.

"There is a great need for boat launching sites, picnicking and campsites" in the Say-ward area, the spokesman said. He said Vancouver Island, with eight campsites and 588 camping units, is better off than any other part of the province.

Camping in provincial parks was down in July, probably because people stayed home for the royal visit. But in August all Island camping units have been bulging at the weekends and nearly full during weekdays.

EARLY DEADLINE

To be sure of a good provincial campsite spot, campers should make plans to pitch their tents before 4 p.m. But, if a provincial parks department camping spot can't be found, there are hundreds of commercial camping areas offering accommodation which includes hot water and flush toilets for anywhere from 75 cents to $1.50 a night depending on facilities offered.

'Daredevil' Fails to Air Grievance

... unemployed daredevil

The minister was away in Vancouver when former McEachern Construction Ltd. truck driver Ray Smith, 23, of Cowichan Station, came to Victoria in an effort to get his job back.

He was fired shortly after a "daredevil" 57-mile drive over an unfinished road from Port Alberni to Ucluelet, through "pressure" put on McEachern by highways department officials and big lumber operators who own part of the road, he claims.

The "daredevil" drive included putting his car over the stringers of one uncompleted bridge.

Smith's appeal to Mr. Gagliardi was delayed by an unscheduled visit to hospital Saturday, caused by swallowing a piece of glass accidentally. He may have to return to hospital.

Yesterday he spoke to two government officials without success.

"One told me that if there was anything he could do to help me, he wouldn't do it," Smith said.

Future plans are uncertain, the former government draughtsman said, gloomily.

He said he believes he was fired "unjustly" because publicity on his feat in negotiating the unfinished road led to an "onslaught" of cars anxious to travel on the road before it was ready for use.

"But highway department people and the forest company knew ahead of time I was going to attempt the unfinished road," he claims.

East Indians Mark Independence Day

COWICHAN LAKE — East Indian wrestling, poetry readings and feasting at Mesachie Lake near here, Sunday, is expected to draw more than 500 Sikhs to celebrate India's Independence Day.

Priests from Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, and from here, will observe the Aug. 15, 1957, "liberation" from British rule with mass prayers in the temple from 7 to 9:30 a.m.

Second part of the day-long celebrations will be a flag-raising ceremony when the Union Jack and India's red, white and green flag will fly beside each other.

"And then we make way for the sports, weight-lifting, soccer and volleyball, starting at 11 a.m.," said Charn Singh Sangha, secretary of the sponsoring group, the Hillcrest Khalsa Diwan Society.

Starting at 3:30 p.m. there will be singing, lectures and poetry readings in Punjabi.

"There'll be lots of things to interest the Canadian community," said Mr. Sangha.

One of the highlights of the celebrations will be free meals of East Indian food served "all day."

Island Mayors Make Effort to End Strike

The mayors of three Vancouver Island centres are in Vancouver today in an attempt to settle the six-week-old woodworkers' strike on the island.

W. C. Moore of Courtenay, Pete Maffeo of Nanaimo and Loran Jordon of Port Alberni will speak with international union representatives and Forest Industrial Relations management negotiators.

Mr. Moore said yesterday in Courtenay the purpose of the talks was "a fair hearing for the problems" of the Island centres most directly affected by the strike and "a fair hearing of our recommendations."

He said the three-man committee will release no results of the talks unless a settlement is reached.

A total of 7,600 men in the three centres have been idled by the strike.

COURTENAY—Plans for a $500,000 shopping centre were presented to city council by the Fraser Valley Land Development Co.

Fossils Eons Old

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Shale banks near here Tuesday yielded a collection of animal and plant fossils which scientists believe may be as much as 30,000,000 years old.

Seven scientists, on their way to a convention of the International Congress of Botanists in Montreal later this month, recovered the specimens near Tranquille, 10 miles from here.

They are among 35 scientists who are currently touring different areas of the province to gather archaeological and botanical data.

Some of the fossils include impressions of a tail of a form of trout-type fish, a large, hickory-like leaf, and meta-sequoia leaves, Oriental strains of the California redwood tree.

Also in the fossil-hunting party are scientists representing oil-exploration companies in Canada and the United States. They are collecting samples of pollen grains and spores, microscopic matter in which fossils abound. The specimens are helpful in dating the beds in which oil and natural gas may be found.

'Hordes of Sick Alcoholics' Keep Nurses Busy at Jubilee

Victoria psychiatrist Dr. Leyda Lythgoe yesterday said "hordes of acutely ill alcoholics" are being treated as outpatients by the psychiatric ward of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

She said nurses there were operating a telephone "reassuring service."

She said the ward gets several hundred of those calls a year and the nurse may get a doctor or may herself talk for five or seven minutes to a "panicky" patient.

Dr. Lythgoe was speaking at the public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association into B.C.'s mental health problems at the legislative buildings.

City welfare administrator

William Hooson said there are 600 alcoholics in Victoria and "this group presents a major problem. With no provision for treatment of this group, the most urgent cases are treated at the psychiatric unit at the general hospital."

Mental Cases Held in City Jail Without Real Care, Treatment

Bad Planning Victimizes B.C. Children

A charge of improper planning of British Columbia's industrial schools for children, was levelled yesterday at the opening public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association in B.C. mental health problems.

David Woodsworth, director of the Victoria Family and Children's Service, told the hearing that "we feel many children are committed to industrial schools who should not have been committed. They appear before juvenile court without having preventive treatment offered."

BAD PLANNING

He charged that children "go back to the industrial school two or three times because there are no facilities for treatment of emotionally disturbed or retarded children in the industrial schools."

"This is not proper planning," he said.

Mr. Woodsworth said the Victoria district needs an outpatient service to deal with severe personality cases and that there should be a child guidance clinic for Nanaimo and north, particularly in respect of Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School.

He also expressed the need for residential services for older children who have been discharged from mental treatment centres and the need for additional residential services for mentally retarded children whose families are incapable of looking after them.

He said the Victoria child guidance clinic did a good job in diagnosis, but not treatment.

NO FACILITIES

"We obtain a diagnosis, but there are no facilities for treatment. There simply aren't facilities to which they can send children," he complained.

Mr. Woodsworth said government sponsorship will be needed to maintain the Sevenoaks Children's Centre, which is now operated by the local Family and Children's Service. It is a residential treatment centre for emotionally disturbed children. Eight boys are now accommodated there and length of stay ranges between two and three years.

'Deplorable Situation' Scored at Hearing

By ALEC MERRIMAN

A "deplorable situation" exists with regard to mental patients awaiting transportation from Victoria to the mainland for treatment, City welfare administrator William Hooson said yesterday.

"Frequently these sick people are held in the city jail for periods up to 36 hours without the care of trained staff and no facilities for emergency treatment," he said at a public hearing into B.C.'s mental health problems which opened at the legislative buildings yesterday.

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the American Psychiatric Association, who is conducting the inquiry, that the greatest problem facing Victoria is that of caring for disturbed seniles.

He was supported in this claim by Richard Broughton, a member of the Canadian Mental Health Association who said "there is a definite need for a home for the aged on the island."

Mr. Broughton felt that many of the old people were able to pay more than the $150 a day rate charged in government-operated aged homes, but also admitted that in cases where young people with families are paying to keep old folks in homes any increase could create a hardship.

Government Generous

"Am I correct in assuming the elderly are particularly well cared for by this government as a campaign promise?" Dr. Ross asked.

"I think they are particularly generous to old people," Mr. Broughton replied.

Mr. Hooson said there is little organized follow-up care for patients in the Victoria area discharged from mental institutions. He said many patients are sent back to family life with "no follow-up care."

Mr. Hooson joined with all others who spoke at yesterday's hearings in asking for some central co-ordinating unit for mental health services in the district.

In a brief he recommended: 1. A psychiatric hospital be built on Vancouver Island, with a fully equipped and staffed outpatient department to handle all types of cases.

2. More trained workers to provide adequate rehabilitation measures for discharged patients in the area.

3. A child guidance clinic for the Nanaimo area and north of the island.

4. More adequately-trained and experienced personnel for the expansion of the services provided by the child guidance clinic in Victoria.

5. A psychiatric team in residence at Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School.

Emotionally Disturbed

6. Government financial assistance for expansion of treatment centres for emotionally disturbed children, such as the Sevenoaks centre.

7. Development of government-sponsored residential and outpatient clinic for psychiatric treatment of psychotic and disturbed children.

8. A residential school for defective children in this area, such as the Woodlands School in New Westminster.

9. A temporary residence for retarded children.

10. Vocational and sheltered workshops for older children and adult defectives.

City health department educator Keith MacDonald, speaking for medical health officer Dr. C. E. Mahaffy, suggested a community clinic within our public health service.

"We feel in a good position to display a degree of leadership. In the past, mental treatment has not been considered part of public health work, but we are suggesting it becomes a logical part," he said.

He said assistance of a fully-qualified psychiatrist to give part-time guidance complemented by a full-time qualified personnel in public health nursing, psychology and psychiatric social work are judged necessary for development of a useful community program.

Dr. Ross asked if there would be "any way to pool the resources of people and dollars," to provide better mental health service in the community.

Unnecessary Expense

Victoria psychiatrist Dr. D. E. Alcorn said an outpatient clinic for mental cases "would be a duplication of services and an expense to the taxpayers."

"There is a 24-bed psychiatric ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital it was explained.

The public hearings will continue at Nanaimo today and in Vancouver Friday.

Next week the hearings move to the interior of B.C.

Dr. Ross told the Colquhoun yesterday that he hopes to present a report to the government by August of next year.

Out of his report is expected to come a reorganization of B.C.'s mental health services and Dr. Ross indicated yesterday that one thing he will recommend is closer co-operation between public health and mental health services.

"I would like to get some idea of what people think. Are they willing to pay a little higher in taxes to get the facilities they want?" Dr. Ross asked.

Later, when he referred to costs again, he said "I keep mentioning dollars because it has to be faced sooner or later."

'Crackpot' Airs Views

Well-known Victorian, W. A. Scott, appeared before the open public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association at the legislative buildings to present what he called "a crackpot's" view of mental problems in British Columbia.

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the APA, who is conducting the inquiry into B.C. mental health conditions, that "I am here as a crackpot presenting my views to non-crackpots."

PROMINENT FIGHTER

Mr. Scott is president of the Victoria Humanist Society and has been prominent in most civic fights in the last few years. He was cast out of the Social Credit party, and was disqualified from running for Victoria mayor because he had once been convicted of hitting the Oak Bay wiring inspector on the nose.

He told yesterday's hearing that "so-called crackpots have been responsible for most success and achievements in the world."

IT'S DIFFICULT

"As crackpots we find it difficult to get lines of communications," he complained. He complained that non-crackpots, whom he described as "heads of the legal profession, leaders of the church, members of commerce, members and politicians" are the ones who control society.

He said they are the ones "I consider have the greatest need for psychiatrists."

50 PER CENT WRONG

He described members of the legal profession as "the highest profession for always being 50 per cent wrong. They are in control of affairs of state. If we put them on the spot they go back into the archives for some one who has been dead for 100 years to prove it."

He said the Americans use "In God We Trust" on their coin of the realm, but no nation has used "In Man We Trust."

Mr. Scott was the only person appearing before the hearing yesterday who was not asked to submit his thoughts in writing.

Help for Retarded 'Most Pressing Need'

Additional "hospital school" accommodation is the most pressing mental health need in British Columbia, A. E. Raymond, acting president of the Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children, told a public hearing into mental health problems of B.C. yesterday.

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the American Psychiatric Association, that it is "evident that Woodlands School is inadequate."

SMALL HOMES NEED

"The provision of small strategically-placed residential homes throughout the province, for use of mentally retarded persons who do not require the highly specialized attention of hospital school, and yet who for various reasons need residential placement outside their homes is also urgently required," he said.

TRAINING PLAN

He called for the inception of a home training plan, using visiting teachers to serve children who by reason of physical disability, family problems, or inaccessibility, are unable to attend special schools.

He also asked for the setting up of pre-primary schools available to the mentally retarded from the age of five onwards thereby making discovery and early diagnosis possible.

Government financial support for research is also needed, he said.

Floating Bottle Brings Pen Pal

These two beachcombing Esquimalt youngsters got an exciting pen pal yesterday when they found bottle bearing a note from a Seattle boy asking the finder to write him. He will get his wish from finders Leonard and Rita Sawyer, 13 and eight years old respectively, of Songhees Reserve. Bottle was at Maple Bank Park beach on the reserve, some 80 miles from where it was launched. — (Colonist photo.)

Arson Suspected

Fires Delay Drive For Needy Widow

Outbreak of bush fires last night curtailed a Langford fire department canvass to raise money for the widow of a volunteer fireman who died while fighting a similar fire.

Firemen and the local Lions Club needed $4,600 to pay off a mortgage on the home of Mrs. Elsie Fisher. Her husband, Edward, died of a heart seizure July 25 while at the scene of a fire.

Fire chief Rod Bayles said arson was suspected in last night's two fires and one the night before, all of which started within a half-mile radius. He said volunteer firemen would cancel their weekly practice tonight to complete the canvass.

When the alarm sounded at 8:30 last night less than half the canvass area had been covered, and firemen waded the money deeper into their pockets and headed for the hall.

The first fire, at the base of Little Mill Mountain between Thetis Lake and Langford, had been extinguished and the firemen were starting to return to the hall when a second, fire was sighted a little higher up the hill.

"It appears they're being set," said an angry fire chief. He said somebody would have to stand guard in the area all night.

Up to the point when the canvass was called off, he said, donors had been "extremely generous" and he thought donations would total $1,000.

"But we have a long way to go," he said.

Douglas Price, a Lions Club official, said he received telephone calls all day yesterday at his Langford business office from persons all over Greater Victoria, who wished to contribute to the fund.

Airport Terminal

Scurrah Assails Inaction

Failure of the federal government to announce firm plans for construction of a new administration building at Victoria International Airport was termed "disappointing" last night by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The mayor said he would give Ottawa "about another month" before renewing demands.

Earlier yesterday Conway Parrott, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said "we are not too satisfied that there will be any early action."

Mayor Scurrah said, "The thing seems to be stalled."

He said that when he was in Ottawa last May government officials thought eventual Rotodyne service between downtown Vancouver and downtown Victoria would make the airport obsolete.

But he said they reacted favorably to his suggestion that they build a new terminal just to take care of requirements for the next 10 years.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't you stick to problems dealing with heart trouble and stay the heck out of matters involving bed sheets?

When my husband read the column in which you told the woman to iron the sheets for her husband if it made him happy, he suggested I do the same. I'll bet that slob of mine never knew what a bed sheet was till I married him, and now he wants them ironed, thanks to you. Drop dead.—ROZ.

DEAR ANN: If that male old maid wants smooth sheets why doesn't he buy his wife an automatic dryer? The sheets come out soft as silk and it's easier than getting flat feet by the ironing board.—TESSIE R.

DEAR ANN: You should have told the big ox who

Husband Tries Hand

DEAR ANN: After your column on bed sheets my husband asked if I ironed ours and I said no. He said it seemed like a simple thing to do for my family's comfort. I got out the board and told him to try it.

He monkeyed around for 30 minutes and never did get the corners straight. Then he burned his elbow on the iron and swore a purple streak. When I examined the "finished product" I found that he had scorched the sheet in two places. Thanks a heap.—B.J.

DEAR ANN: Who irons sheets anymore? I thought everyone in the world was on to the time-saving system of folding sheets and putting them, one at a time on the ### Sheet Ironers Sick!

DEAR ANN: Anyone who irons bed sheets in this day and age is sick. The only thing that matters is whether or not they are laundered. I can't imagine a duller way to kill time than to stand and iron sheets that will be wrinkled in five minutes anyway. You goofed, Ann. I recommend 10 lashes with a knotted bedsheet.—JUNE BUG.

DEAR ANN: For once in your life you stuck up for the men. I almost swallowed my pipe when you told the woman to iron the sheets if it made her old man happy. You ain't such a bad tomato after all.—BUSTER.

Wilkins-Cann Rites

Cousin Sings Wedding Solo

A cousin of the bride sang a solo during the recent wedding ceremony in the Centennial United Church, when Marilyn Clair Cann was married to Mr. Clifford Rae Wilkins.

"I'll Walk Beside You" was sung by Miss Margaret Blake-way of Burnaby, B.C.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Cann, 3750 Winston Crescent and the groom is son of Mrs. Q. V. Powell, 2315 Cook Street.

In a double-ring ceremony Mr. Rodney Wilkins, nephew of the groom, acted as ring bearer, dressed in black velvet pants and white shirt.

Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiated.

The bridal gown was floor length, nylon chiffon and tulle with a bouffant skirt and lace panels. A tulle veil which reached to the bottom of the skirt was held in place by a rhinestone tiara.

Matching dresses of pink silk organza were worn by maid of honor, Miss Norma Erskine, and bridesmaids Mrs. B. Peatt and Mrs. B. Trumble. They carried bouquets and wore headbands of pink carnations. A niece of the groom acted as flower girl with a dotted white Swiss dress and pink cummerbund, carrying a basket of roses and lily of the valley.

Best man was Mr. Robert Wilkins, brother of the groom. Another brother Mr. Ron Wilkins, acted as usher with Mr. Barry Trumble.

At a reception held at Holyrood House Mr. Shirley Cann, uncle of the bride proposed her toast.

A white eyelet sheath with matching accessories and a red coat was the costume worn by the bride as the couple left for a honeymoon in Banff and Lake Louise.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wilkins will live in Austin's apartments, Cook Street.

Lee-Zayha

Salt Spring Island and Dawson Creek shared interests in the recent marriage in First United Church of Jeanette Marie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Zayha of Dawson Creek, and Clifford Roy Lee, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Lee of Salt Spring Island.

The bride wore a gown of sheer white organza, embroidered sleeveless bodice of organza and ballerina-length full skirt. Round her shoulders she wore an embroidered organza stole with deeply fringed ends. Her hair bandeau was of pearls and net leaves.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Ronnie Adams, who was dressed in pale blue organza.

Best man was Mr. Ed Adams and ushers were Dan Jacobs and Peter Jacobs, of Dawson Creek.

For travelling, the bride changed into a white linen suit, with pale green accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee, who will make their home in Dawson Creek, are now visiting relations on Salt Spring Island.

Ex-Victorian Weds

Alma Elaine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Halstrom, formerly of Victoria, was married in Moose Jaw recently to Mr. Lorne Donald Sullivan. The bride was educated in Victoria. At the wedding reception the bridal toast was proposed by Mr. George Sager of Victoria. The newlyweds will live in Saskatoon.

Bridegroom Waited in Church While Bride Cleared Customs

Looking back over 50 years of marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, well-known Sidney couple remember one thing in particular.

Their wedding day might well have been Aug. 15 or 16 instead of Aug. 14, 1909.

On that day, in New York's famed little Church Around The Corner, Mr. Butler frantically kept minister and guests on hand as he waited for hours for his bride.

ABOARD SHIP Mrs. Butler, aboard a ship from England, was held up by customs regulations.

Finally at 9:15 p.m. the ceremony took place and the couple began a life together that's taken them back and forth across the northern hemisphere.

When Mr. Butler emigrated to Canada, he promised a neighboring village girl, Beatrice Philip, he would return to claim her as his bride.

SHE CAME OUT A year later, he wired he was unable to return for the wedding and his bride-elect took a ship to New York to marry him there.

The couple's first home was in Toledo, Ohio and then to Iowa and finally to a farm near Moose Jaw, Sask.

Shortly before the First World War, they left Canada for England where Mr. Butler farmed until the end of the war.

Back to Canada they came with their children to Chilliwack before going to California.

The final move was to the Saanich Peninsula to the home on McTavish Road in which they now live.

The couple has six children, Mr. Dan Butler of Sidney, and

And That's Not All

Razor Mink-Trimmed

NEW YORK (UPI)—What's a mink coat, ladies, when you can have your own mink-trimmed razor?

Don't laugh. Some women buy such items as substitutes for that stole or jacket they've always wanted but never had, says a manufacturer of fur novelties.

"Women are mink conscious. If a woman can't have a mink coat, she gets a mink pin or sweater guard," said Jacob Rosenbaum, who with his son, Herb, runs a store in the heart of Seventh Avenue's fur district.

The shop is crammed with things like mink cigarette holders, ball point pens, the razors, jewelry, berets, headbands, Christmas corsages and mink shoe buckles. There are pins of mink flowers, mink heads, pink mink poodles, mink beer can openers, back scratchers, and key chains.

Gifts Clutter Palace

LONDON (UPI) — Just what is a Queen supposed to do with a large statue of a bucking bronco, a Caribou jacket, a spear, fishing flies and 20 walking sticks?

Well, if you don't know, neither does Queen Elizabeth. But these were among the many presents shipped home to Buckingham Palace from her 45-day Canadian tour.

Queen Dreads More Trowels!

Prince Philip got some weirdies, too, but also some useful presents. Polo sticks, for instance, which can go into his stable paraphernalia, to be used later. And a motorboat for mooring on the loch near the royal holiday home, Balmoral Castle.

Every time the Queen goes touring she receives boatloads of gifts—from admirers, loyal subjects, her hosts, little boys who've carved up the dandiest little knickknacks, and little girls who've strung the prettiest beads.

What happens to it all? Some of the gifts, of course, do get used. But by far the majority wind up in storage. And that's another problem.

Some of the Queen's wedding presents of 12 years ago are still in crates stored in a disused garden pavilion in the grounds of Windsor Castle. The pavilion was recently cleared out for just that purpose. Included in this collection are elaborate pieces of furniture and outsized ornaments for which no suitable house-room has ever been found.

Still in storage, too, are handsome coronation gifts which were received from all parts of the world.

The "gift-giving" is almost enough to turn the Queen against such simple duties as tree planting. Because for each planting there is a gold or silver trowel used, which of course, is presented to her. No one has counted how many may be on hand.

Prince Philip has helped solve some facets of the problem by sending "large collections of the gifts" on tour to be publicly exhibited, usually for the benefit of various charities.

Other articles are sent off on "permanent loan" to suitable museums and art galleries in London and provincial cities.

Some things simply have to be thrown out or given away.

"The Queen decides and she is always extremely careful to advise the donors first so as not to hurt their feelings," said a Buckingham Palace official.

Time's Ripe to Pickle, Bottle, Can and Freeze

It's that time again. If you're pickling, preserving, bottling, canning or freezing fresh fruits or vegetables, the suggestion from here is—do it right away.

Tried and true is the theory that the first of the crop is the best for flavor and appearance.

Dealers are featuring canning and pickling goods on their shelves in good supplies, and the produce to match.

Most interesting of new Okanagan crops is the arrival next week of the three V's—Valiant, Veteran and Vedette—canning peaches. Don't wait for market changes, specials or reductions—the best is first crop.

The Rochester, a cling stone peach, beats the V's for flavor in eating or canning but involves more work.

Last call for apricots this week! This small fruit deal is all over and what's left is at your grocer's.

Starting very soon from the Valley are delicious Bartlett pears, long a summertime favorite. Remember to let them ripen before eating; they're sold nearly ripe so they won't bruise before you can take them home. Lots of heat and moisture speeds up the process.

SPROUTS IN

Although Brussel's sprouts seem a little out of place in the summer scheme of things, there are several pounds around at about 31 cents a pound.

Local field tomatoes have still to appear, but there are crisp and crunchy new carrots on the market, medium head white cauliflower at about 30 to 35 cents each, small heads of lettuce, light because of the slime, that seems to affect heavier heads, vegetable marrow and bins full of second crop tasty new potatoes.

FEWER APPLES?

This year's apple crop looks as though it may be down in quantity over the last two years. Usually there are two big crops in a row, and then the poor old trees take a rest for a year. Local Transparents and Gravensteins are about average size at two pounds for 29 cents.

There may be minute quantities of local corn for a good corn roast this weekend. A late spring and so much rain earlier this year has slowed down the growing. However, the second crop promises to be very fine. Right now, corn's coming in from Wapato, Wash. Price is six ears for about 59 cents.

DO IT NOW

Independent chain stores and the big and small markets are featuring pickling produce this week. If you buy dill cukes, gherkins, dill weed and the like, put them up immediately if not sooner; they won't keep long in the heat.

In grapes, you have a sure buy for the weekend in variety and flavor. There are Seedless, Red Cardinals, Red Malagas, Ribiers, and some Muscats available.

New York To Have 'Meter Maids'

NEW YORK (AP)—The city administration hopes to have 100 "meter maids" on the job by Jan. 1 to check on vehicles overparked at meters. A bill creating the force of uniformed women is scheduled for passage soon by the city's legislative bodies.

Unwed Mothers

Unique Service Started

EDMONTON (CP)—An expanded service for unwed mothers, described by officials to be unique in Canada, has been introduced by the Alberta public welfare department.

Under the new system, the identity of unmarried mothers is known only to practising physicians and a small number of social workers on the welfare department staff.

The department bears the entire costs of services, apart from hospital care. These costs include maintenance away from home, medical fees and professional counselling. When an unwed mother wishes to keep her child, the department may take legal action for financial support from the father.

Formerly, in many cases, assistance was provided by municipalities and in turn paid by the welfare department. This procedure often involved billing from the municipality providing the service to another municipality where the recipient of the services lived.

This often led to the unwed mother's identity becoming known to the community, and made re-establishment more difficult, officials said.

Under the new setup, there are counselling rooms in regional welfare offices at Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, so arranged that visitors need not walk through public waiting rooms or corridors.

Music Awards Won by Sisters

Three silver medals, awarded for the highest marks in the province according to grade, have been won by sisters Barbara Anne and Jacqueline Court, 3207 Browning Street, following recent Toronto Conservatory of Music examinations.

Twelve-year-old Barbara Anne, violinist, won the medals for Grades 5 and 6. Jacqueline, 10, won the medal for Grade 2 piano. In addition each was awarded a Frederick Harris Scholarship. Jacqueline for Grades 1 and 2 and Barbara Anne for Grade 5.

Widow, 81, Wooed, Won, Thanks to TV

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (UPI)—An 83-year-old retired farmer is honeymooning with the 81-year-old widow he fell in love with when he saw her on a TV show. Fred Tanner, of Carmichael, Calif., wrote to Mrs. Matilda Sorenson, of Santa Maria, after seeing her on "Queen for a Day" a year ago. She answered the letters and "love took its course."

Redecorating Cements Family

NEW YORK (UPI)—Re-modelling a home can help rebuild family unity, says an interior decorator, designer and mother of two children.

Evelyn Jablow gives a practical plan for achieving what sociologists and religious leaders long have preached—a return to the family as the centre of society.

"We've lost touch with the home," Mrs. Jablow said in an interview. "The housewife's life today is concerned with what she can get to make her work easier. Everything is geared to keep us from doing any work."

"Nothing is wrong if you don't go to extremes, but you can't be gadget minded. This trend has become hysterical."

She believes the first step toward unifying the family is through decorating, because decorating brings the family together. Common interests and hobbies are taken into consideration. Each member of the family should be consulted or interviewed separately, then jointly. The family should discuss the project together.

Include the children's rooms, if only to make inexpensive changes, the decorator advised. It will make the youngsters feel important. And they will be proud to bring their friends around and will spend more time at home. If a child has a room to suit his tastes and hobbies, he also will learn to take pride in himself and his home.

"A home should be light and beautiful and create a feeling that life is good," Mrs. Jablow said.

If you want to teach your youngster the value of gracious living, make your home a pleasant place to live in, she added. Go ahead and buy that good coffee table you've wanted. But instead of sitting back and waiting for the children to wreck it, teach them to appreciate fine things as you would teach them to value art.

"If you have a seven-room house, why do you have to live in the basement?" Mrs. Jablow said. "My children never ruined anything. It was my friends who broke things and put their feet on my white sofa."

In her years of decorating, Mrs. Jablow says she never has had an unhappy client. And she has seen families brought closer together through decorating.

PERSONAL MENTION

Visiting from Manchester, England, for three months is Mr. William Kilpatrick, as guest of his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kilpatrick, Lancaster Road. The two men are reunited after 40 years. Another reunion will take place in Duncan when another brother, Thomas, who hasn't seen Mr. Kilpatrick for 30 years, entertains him for the latter part of his visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Thackray, with their son Michael, of Vancouver, are in Victoria visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thackray and Capt. and Mrs. W. Bromley before leaving for Ottawa where Mr. Thackray has been appointed a foreign service officer with the department of external affairs. Mr. Thackray left this week and will be joined by his wife and son in early September.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jenkins and their family returned this week to Victoria after visiting Vesuvius Bay.

Holidaying at Parksville is Sqdn. Ldr. Derek Inman, an aide to Lieutenant Governor Frank Ross, with his wife and children, Heidi and Robbie.

GANGES — Nancy Phyllis was the names given the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Basil A. Robinson of Richmond, B.C., at a christening ceremony held recently in Salt Spring Island's St. Mark's Church, Rev. C. S. Caldwell officiating. The baby wore an heirloom robe worn by her grandmother at her christening. Godmother from Johannesburg, South Africa, was the baby's cousin, Miss Ruth Streeton. Following the service, tea was served at the Vesuvius Bay home of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Robinson.

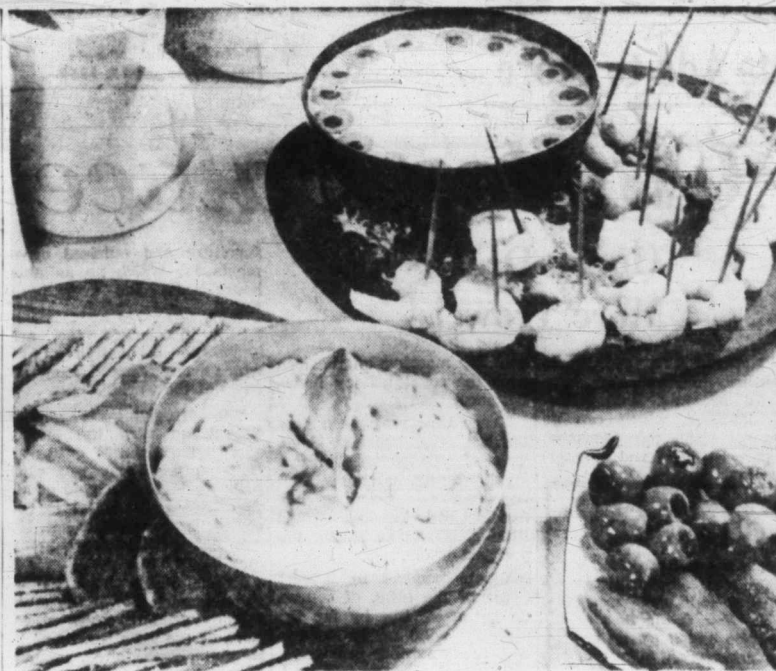

GANGES — Mrs. C. G. Trafford returned home to Victoria recently after several days as the guest of Miss Amy Larnder at Vesuvius Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Fairbanks have returned to their Donald Street home after a month's motor trip up-Island.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Harsant will be at home to friends on Friday from 2 to 4 p.m. and again from 7 to 9 p.m. at 2743 Quadra Street on the occasion of their golden wedding celebration. Married in Bracebridge, Ont., the couple has three children: Mrs. Bert Knibbs of Stoughton, Sask.; Mrs. Lyall Wedman of Victoria and Mr. James Ashley Harsant of Edmonton. There are eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Miss Joan Dunn with her mother Mrs. George Dunn recently entertained at their Lansdowne Road home for Mrs. Gordon McBride, the former Noeline Thomas. Among the guests were Mrs. A. McBride, Mrs. G. Dixon, Mrs. H. Klunk, Mrs. E. Jury, Mrs. N. Lennax, Mrs. M. Bevis, Mrs. H. Robinson, Mrs. C. Stonehouse, Mrs. M. Zabel, and the Misses Janet Klunk, Maureen Midgeley, Joyce Stonehouse, Carolyn Zabel and Mona McConnell.

Pale yellow roses and daisies were presented to Friday bride-elect Miss Leona Newberry at a kitchen shower given for her at the Cranmore Road home of Mrs. W. K. Harrison. Gifts were concealed under a huge paper rose. Among the guests were Mrs. F. Newberry, Mrs. B. Brice, Mrs. F. Clarke, Mrs. C. Clarke, Mrs. C. Litster, Mrs. K. Jones, Mrs. W. Lowrey, Mrs. L. D. Clarke, Mrs. C. Limb, Mrs. B. Fairclough, Mrs. R. Westway and Mrs. V. Clarke.

Learn Basic Recipe Then Anything Goes

One thing about making dips is the variety of ingredients you can use once you have a basic recipe.

To make the Fluffy Double Dip, mix 1/2 cup of the powdered milk with 1/2 cup of ice water (and that's the good thing about this new milk; it mixes very well in the coldest of water.) Whip into soft peaks for about three to four minutes. Add two tablespoons lemon juice, continue beating until stiff. Fold in 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing.

To make the Shrimp Dip add two tablespoons of prepared horseradish, 1/2 cup chili sauce, four hard-cooked eggs, finely chopped to two cups of the Double Dip. Garnish with olives.

For spice with crackers and potato chips, try an Onion Soup Dip. Add a package of dehydrated onion soup mix to two cups of the basic recipe. Chill and serve.

To freshen up chips, spread them out in a shallow pan and oven toast them for ten minutes.

Use your imagination and your chip and dip party will be a great success.

Quick and easy to serve when guests drop in some summer evening are these made-in-advance dips for nibbling the Fluffy Double Dip and a Shrimp Dip. Each is made with well-known, powdered skim-milk, newly arrived on Victoria markets.

Bridegroom Held Ring In His Teeth

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (AP)—James Parkinson, an armless artist, placed the ring on the bride's finger by holding it in his teeth when he was married to Audrey O'Meara, a dentist. "I was petrified he might swallow it," said Audrey later. After a visit to Honolulu the couple will go to New York, where Parkinson will be fitted with artificial arms. The public subscribed the money to make this possible.

Garden Notes

Roses Are Budded

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I seem to be getting quite a few letters lately asking for instructions on how to graft roses. I always try to fight shy of answering any grafting questions, as this operation is almost impossible to explain clearly without pictures and diagrams. I'm home free on these rose enquiries, though, because you don't graft roses—you bud them.

Budding consists of slicing a small, shield-shaped bit of bark, containing a leaf stalk and a bud from the desired rose, and inserting it in a slit cut in the stem of a wild rose. When the bud "takes" and starts to grow, all the wild rose topgrowth is cut away, leaving the garden rose growing on wild rose roots.

This process is a bit difficult and fiddling for the novice gardener and a much simpler technique is to take cuttings from the rose bush which is to be increased.

There are certain drawbacks, of course. The process is a bit slow, as roses from cuttings seldom bloom until two years have passed, and some varieties don't throw out roots very readily.

All the old-fashioned varieties—roses such as Dorothy Perkins and Mme. Alfred Carriere—are as easy as pie, "striking" easily. In fact, all the "wild" roses and the first-generation crosses from them will throw out roots at the drop of a hat.

The moderns, with their involved ancestry, are a bit more difficult. The easiest are the dwarf polyanthus or floribundas and the climbers and ramblers. Hybrid teas are tricky—generally speaking, the pinks, whites and reds can be coaxed into making roots, but the yellows, bicolors and multicolors are real toughies.

Select stout, well-ripened shoots of this year's growth, avoiding any which are soft and sappy. The ideal cutting is about nine inches long, taken from near the base of the selected shoot, discarding the tip portion. Make a very clean cut, using a sharp knife, just below the lowest eye or bud.

Remove the lower leaves, leaving only two or three near the top of the cutting. In taking off the leaves, cut the stalks; don't pull them off, as this might tear off a strip of bark and would almost certainly damage the embryo bud which nestles in each leaf joint. These are required to become the shoots of the new bush.

The lazy man's way to get roots in a hurry is to stick each cutting in a bottle of water. This simple method does a remarkably effective job with many rose varieties. I prefer, however, to do things the harder and slower way, rooting the slips in an outdoor bed of sandy soil, as I believe the roses make a better root system in their natural rooting medium.

A hormone rooting powder will speed up the production of roots and possibly I wouldn't dream of taking a cutting of any kind, even mint and geraniums, without dipping it in Rootone, Auxan or Hormonex first.

Give the bed of rose cuttings one good watering to settle the soil, but keep it just a trifle on the dry side thereafter. More cuttings are lost through overwatering than through any other cause and the trick is to maintain enough moisture to sustain growth, but not enough to induce rotting.

The rooted cuttings may be planted out in their permanent quarters in the fall of 1960 and will bloom in 1961, although you won't have a really first-class bush for another year.

Nixon Shows Home Movies

By John Crosby

Sunday night Vice-President Nixon showed home movies over two networks, NBC and CBS, and we all had a real nice time. There are certain inevitable similarities in anyone's movies of his trip abroad, and the Vice-president's were no exception. There were the shots of people's backs as they moved away from the camera toward the fair grounds. There were entirely too many glimpses of arrivals and departures in various conveyances, people getting on and off airplanes are not very interesting and the narration was generally pitched in what you might call lantern slide prose: "And here we are on the steps of the Leningrad Library."

But, I must say, I was thoroughly gripped for the whole hour—half an hour on NBC with the vice-president live and then half an hour later on CBS with the vice-president on tape. Nixon was a thoroughly relaxed and candid host on these tours. His opinions had great bite and honesty. I was especially taken with Nixon's admission that Khrushchev would make a great American politician if he weren't a Communist: "He has vitality, the will to work, color, and he always stays on the offensive."

The glimpses of life behind the Iron Curtain shot by CBS and NBC cameramen were, if anything, too few and skimpy. I am always struck by the emptiness of the streets in Moscow, a city of 5,000,000 people, and these films were no exception. Moscow always looks a bleak and empty and uninviting spot. This feeling lessened when the films moved out of Moscow to the smaller cities where Russia assumes a more human aspect. There was some especially piquant footage showing Pat Nixon dancing with Russian children that won't do the Nixon cause any harm at the polls. It was charming.

The Warsaw shots with the people shouting "Long Live America" were heartwarming, and even a little startling. I belong to the same school as Nixon, who said that you're going to have to talk to the Russians unless you want to fight them.

Over on WNTA, David Susskind rounded up five of the reporters who accompanied Nixon and conducted what must have been one of the longest seminars on TV record. For almost three hours, from 9 p.m. until 10 minutes past midnight, the five discussed the trip in the most minute detail.

This gabfest was terribly interesting up to about the last 40 minutes when it got both long-winded and a little acrimonious. I think there are limits beyond which no panel should be kept on camera. The strain begins to show after two hours in front of cameras.

Let's Talk

Are All Geniuses Mad?

What is a genius? Psychologists tell us a genius is someone with a very high I.Q. who is otherwise as normal as you or I.

Maybe so, but then what about the life of Ludwig Wittgenstein? Wittgenstein, who was the most influential philosopher of this century. Wittgenstein, whose ideas fill half of every textbook on modern philosophy.

Let me tell you about his life. Wittgenstein was born in Vienna in 1889. At 22, he went to Manchester to study aeronautical engineering. From there he switched to Cambridge University and philosophy. Then he spent a year alone in an isolated hut in Norway.

In 1914 he volunteered to serve in the Austrian army. When the British captured him, they found in his rucksack the manuscript of his "Logical Philosophical Treatise" (now a famous classic). After the war Wittgenstein returned to Austria, gave away the fortune he inherited, and spent the next six years as a village grammar-school teacher in the Austrian mountains.

Then, in 1929, he went to Cambridge and, within a few years, succeeded to the chair of philosophy. In 1936 he returned again to his lonely hut in Norway and wrote "Philosophical Investigations." The "Investigations" denied everything he'd said in the "Treatise" and started a brand-new school of thought. Finally, in 1948, he spent a year in an isolated hut in Ireland. He died of cancer in 1951.

Wittgenstein never in his life prepared a lecture; he simply stood before his students and thought aloud. He never in his life wore a suit, necktie or hat. He, the leading philosopher of England, detested philosophy, academic life, and everything connected with England and the English.

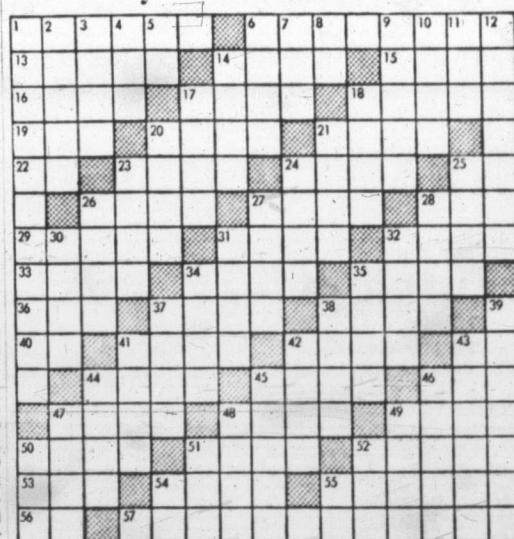

Of course you'll want to know what his revolutionary new philosophy consisted of. But it's extremely hard to explain. Judge for yourself from these sample quotations: "An expression has meaning only in the stream of life."

"The riddle does not exist."

"He who understands me finally recognizes my propositions as senseless."

Next time the conversation turns upon geniuses, you can say, "You know what I mean? Someone like Wittgenstein."

ROME (AP)—Death in the icy peaks and crags of the Alps are mounting at a tragic pace.

Early 10 weeks after the annual rush to climb Europe's most challenging mountains got under way, a survey of five countries showed at least 148 climbers killed.

As usual, the vast majority of the victims are amateurs with little experience in the mountains.

Hilarious Weeks

Victoria Actress
In 'Heavy' Role

Best senior actress at the 1959 Schools Drama Festival here was Helen Marmo of 2040
Granite Street, Oak Bay High School student.

With the scholarship, Helen has been at the University of British Columbia Summer School of Theatre and has captioned "seven hilarious weeks" there by being selected from among 20 contestants for the "heavy" lead in Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle."

The play, starring Leo Ciceri, has been performed as part of the International Festival.

The role "lets loose all sorts of terrifying impulses which I didn't know I had," Helen says. "You should see me take the ingenuite pieces in little, screaming bits. I'm almost afraid to come home!"

Nevertheless, Helen comes home on Sunday.

ference on Commonwealth trade and economic affairs agreed to establish last year.
The council is to coordinate

Nuclear Power
From Thorium?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—
The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced a long-range program to extract nuclear power from Thorium, a heavy metal more abundant in the earth's crust than uranium, only existing natural source of fissionable material for atomic bombs and reactors.

Conversion of thorium into a fissionable material, by treatment in a uranium reactor, would add greatly to the world's reserves of atomic fuel.

Quebecers Coming Here

A party of 22 members of La Liaison Francoise is expected to make a brief visit to Victoria early next week.

A spokesman for the cultural tour agency with headquarters in Quebec said that this is the first visit to Western Canada for most members of the tour.

The tour director, now at Jasper, said the party was "struck by the immensity of the land and the amount of breathing space, as well as the cordiality of Westerners to their Eastern visitors."

Birdmen May Fly
Under Own Power
Sometime This Year

LONDON (AP)—This may be the year when man at last learns to fly like a bird—powered, that is, by nothing but his own muscles.

The problem had been under attack by no less a body than the British Royal Aeronautical Society since January, 1957. H.
B. Irving, a member of the society's manpower flight group, now says:

"I think it is possible that some sort of manpowered craft will be in the air before the end of 1959."

Irving, in his 60's, is a former assistant director of aerial research for the government.

He says the manpower flight group hopes to come up with a light plane which will be pushed through the air by a pedal-driven propeller. It probably will be a tandem job for two.

Tutankhamen Cane Stolen from Museum

CARIO (UPI)—A priceless gold-plated cane from the tomb of King Tutankhamen has been stolen from the Cairo museum, police reported yesterday.

The 4½-foot cane bore the hieroglyphic inscription, "He that carries this cane will have the blessing of Ammon and walk in his retinue." Ammon was the chief Egyptian deity.

Selim Hassan, Egypt's leading Egyptologist, said the cane was "as precious as Moses' stick."

"It played a historic role in uncovering the secrets of Tutankhamen's reign," he said. "It bore the king's name, title and biography."

Defence Body Inspection Slated Here

Nineteen members of Britain's current Imperial Defence College course will spend two days in Victoria, Aug. 19 and 20, inspecting HMC Dockyard, HMCS Naden and Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

The party will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 3 p.m. Aug. 19. That evening they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ian Ross for dinner in Butchart's Gardens.

Aug. 20 they will meet Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner in the morning, and have lunch at Royal Roads. They will return to Vancouver aboard the destroyer-escort HMCS Skeena at 2 p.m.

They are on a month-long tour of Canadian and United States defence establishments.

South Africa 'Crazy'

Professor Rejects Native Land, Coming to Canada

By DAVID OANCI

LONDON (CP)—Professor Arthur Mervyn Keppel-Jones of South Africa has turned his back on his native land for good.

"South Africa has gone crazy," he says. "It's political and intellectual atmosphere is that of a lunatic world. Standards that are ordinary currency of civilized society are treated now as the marks of criminal conspiracy, dangerous to mention in public."

He has picked Canada for his future home, and leaves Friday for Kingston, Ont., where he has been appointed professor of history at Queen's University.

"As a South African I cannot turn my back on my British heritage. As a Canadian I shall not forget my South African heritage or experience either."

"But there is a difference between the two situations—Canadians will not expect me to do so."

Now a slight, pink-faced man of 50, Keppel-Jones' roots went deep in Africa. He was born in Capetown the year the British Parliament passed an act granting full self-government to the white people in the four colonies of South Africa.

As a Rhodes scholar, Keppel-

Racial Division A 'Pipe Dream'

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—E. H. St. John, member of the International Commission of Jurists, calls South Africa's race segregation plans "a pipe dream."

"Any division between white and black, including separate development," he declared, "is impossible." Unless scope is given to the colored races, "it will end in a terrible and bloody revolution."

Jones took an arts degree at Oxford and became a doctor of philosophy at Capetown University. In 1954 he was appointed professor of history at Natal University.

"The most evil imaginings of deranged minds are unctuously proclaimed as if their noble worth were self-evident."

None of the recent developments, particularly apartheid, come as a surprise, he said.

While General Smuts was still alive, his immense prestige obscured the "dark forces" at work. At that time the professor wrote a book called "When Smuts Goes," in which he forecast much of what has come to pass.

The professor paints a gloomy picture of South Africa under the government of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd.

"We of British stock who paid Afrikaners, with their language and traditions, the respect and honor which were their due, took it for granted that the same respect and honor for our language and traditions would be rendered in return.

"But in place of the sanctity of the individual personality, the freedom of thought and communication, the guarantee of civil liberty... we now are to bow down to the values born of fear and the inferiority complex."

"We have a system of kragdadigheid, the bullying of the weak, thought control, the racial myth, the examination of fingernails to look for colored blood, denial of access to the courts, the breach of the most solemn promises."

"The state is embarked on a crazy course which I am certain is leading to destruction. But I am convinced too that when this regime is overthrown it will be succeeded by one equally foreign to me."

Afrikaner nationalism has created black nationalism, and thus, he warned, the future lies with the extremists.

HENDRIK VERWOERD

Postal Drive For Prospect Slow-Moving

Prospect Lake and District Community Association is making little headway with its attempts to have a standard letter postage rate for the whole of Saanich peninsula.

Brian Hoole, president of the association, said last night both Postmaster-General William Hamilton and Defence Minister George Pearkes have replied to letters, saying the matter is receiving consideration.

The association's letters were prompted by the number of city firms which put four-cent stamps on letters to the area. The postage rate is five cents and residents have to pay two cents surcharge on letters bearing four-cent stamps.

But a city businessman, whose firm posts a number of letters to the rural route areas, yesterday blamed residents, partly, for the mixup.

"Many of these people don't like to admit they live on a rural delivery route, for some reason," he said. "And, also, since the post office began putting box numbers on mail boxes to facilitate delivery it is harder for us to tell whether we should use a four-cent stamp or a five-cent stamp."

FIRST RAILROAD

Simple Farm Life Is Past; Only 'Experts' Survive

That's the opinion of federal agriculturalist Ted Maas, supervisor of "project farms" up Island.

To be successful, he said yesterday, a farmer today has to be "a practising agronomist, entomologist, pathologist and cost accountant."

And if a farmer isn't all these things, and able to keep on the right side of the ledger while producing crops, he won't survive in what is now "a highly competitive and risky business," Mr. Maas said.

Because of the complexity of farming and the competition, he said, the old "simple" farmer is being forced out.

Running a farm today in such a way as to meet competition, he said, "takes quite an investment. Equipment becomes obsolete so quickly, and it's more economical to discard it and buy new equipment than to keep on using it."

His remarks arose from the attitudes shown by more than 100 farmers in a Vancouver Island potato growers' field day on Saanich farms.

The investment seen in equipment, fertilizers, sprays and dusts on the farms showed the complete change of farming from a simple occupation to a complex, rapidly changing business," Mr. Maas said.

"Many of the practices observed were less than five years old and each year brings a new crop of weedicides, fungicides and insecticides."

"The field day served to show the rapid advance of agricultural research, the effectiveness of agricultural extension and the ability of the farmer to accept new methods."

'Absent Mind' Started Legend

Bishop Wore Bow Tie

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain's "how-tie bishop" says his nickname resulted from a combination of doctored photographs and his own absent-mindedness.

Rt. Rev. Mervyn Stockwood, 46, Anglican Bishop of Southwark, was replying to a complaint that his bow-tie might lead him to be mistaken for a racetrack bookie.

In a letter to The Times he writes that the "legend" began late last year on the eve of his appointment to Southwark.

To avoid the press, he said, he took off his clerical collar and "camouflaged himself with the bow."

But on his trip from Cambridge to London, he absent-mindedly forgot to pack his collar and "had to be photographed with the shameful haberdashery around my neck."

"Some photographers, jealous of The Times, found in their archives old prints of myself and doctored them."

He adds that "on most occasions I wear the dress of a respectable clergyman," but admits to "a spree" in a soft collar and tie occasionally.

'Giveaway' Care

EDMONTON (UPI) — The Alberta Dental Association has protested what it termed a large-scale "giveaway" of dental treatment by a missionary school in the Peace River country.

The organized dentists complained that free tooth extractions by students of the Sexsmith Bible College in the north were a threat to patients. Eighteen missionary students started a practical dentistry course at Sexsmith two months ago. Since then about 1,000 district residents have had free dental attention.

'Bing and I Don't Get Along,' Says Bitter Son

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Bing Crosby's eldest son, Gary, says he and his famous father "just don't get along."

He said his father has not come to see him and his three brothers — Dennis, Philip and Lindsay — in their successful new nightclub act at the Sahara Hotel here, and he won't be invited by Gary.

"Dad did some things last Christmas that I felt were far from right... He's done a lot of other things in the past that I didn't like. I'm sure no one knows him as well as I do, although a lot of people think they do."

HAMPTON, Ont. — Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte walked out of a closed hearing which was being held to determine the custody of the 107 children she looked after at her missionary home at Bowmanville.

VIENNA — Film executive Spyros Skouras says his trip

Salesmen Thought Fraud Was 'Normal'

VANCOUVER (CP) — A defence lawyer claimed that police prosecution of a used car company and two salesmen "has shown other dealers... that their practices are criminal and they can't get away with it."

Dick Anderson was appealing to Magistrate Oscar Orr for a lenient sentence for Stonehouse Motors, its sales manager, Joseph Hargitt, 36, and salesman Walter Murwick, 34.

The company and two men pleaded guilty to one charge each of conspiring to defraud the public of money and property and five charges each of obtaining money and property "by deceit, falsehood and other fraudulent means."

"The accused have been in the used car business in Vancouver for many years," said Anderson. "They have seen these practices going on and been led to believe they were not criminal."

Anderson said that criminal practices had been so prevalent in the used car business his clients thought they were normal business methods.

The lawyer praised the work of Vancouver detectives in the case, but added: "If police proceeded like this on every instance of fraud against the public... the jails would be bursting at the seams."

Both men were remanded for sentence until Aug. 18. The magistrate dismissed their request for bail with a wave of his hand.

He said: "If the company has any assets they are going to be fined a considerable amount. If they have no assets I'm not going to impose a fine and have them go bankrupt."

Lawyer John Steeves said the company had no assets.

18,000,000 People By September, 1960

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's population at July 1 was estimated at 17,482,000.

The bureau of statistics said that present indications are that the 18,000,000 mark will probably be reached in September, 1960.

In the first half of this year, the increase was estimated at 198,000. This includes the natural increase—births minus deaths—of 177,000, plus the difference between an estimated 55,000 immigrants and 31,000 emigrants.

Man Guilty Of Assault, Remanded

John A. Burkman, 2879 Austin, was found guilty of assault causing bodily harm following trial in city police court yesterday, and remanded in custody to Aug. 17 for a probation report and sentence.

Complainant in the case, Samuel Caldwell, 1124 Yates, told Magistrate William Oster the incident happened July 14 outside 1120 Yates.

Caldwell said accused and a companion blocked his way on the sidewalk, and after "words" he kicked Caldwell in the groin.

In another case set for trial, charges of false pretenses, involving a cheque for $35, were withdrawn against a Victoria man, when the complainant, Mrs. Irene Parasis, said the money had been returned to her.

Costs of $5 were levied against the complainant by Magistrate Oster, with a reminder that he had told her when the complaint was laid that the court was "not a collection agency."

Meteorite Shower Thrills Viewers

A number of Victorians who waited outside their homes late last night were rewarded with the sight of many meteorites plunging toward the earth at a rate of 50 an hour, according to an observatory official.

Condition Of Boy Serious

A fire hose which slashed like a bowstring across a corner lot yesterday, when it jammed while unreeeling from a Saanich fire engine, hurled one youngster 15 feet, bowled over another and sent a policeman sprawling.

In serious condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night was Donald Stewart, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stewart, 3314 Fircrest, after he was catapulted onto a rock outcropping by the hose.

GRASS FIRE

The freak accident came at 1:30 p.m. yesterday as the Saanich fire department went to work extinguishing a grass fire near the Stewart home.

RIPPED SIGNPOST

A coupling jammed on the reel and the suddenly tightened hose snapped diagonally across the corner, ripping out a signpost and damaging shrubbery in the garden of F. L. Rogers, 3318 Fircrest.

The Stewart youngster, with a friend, Russell Batstone, 5, of 1541 McRae, was running along Knight beside the Rogers garden when the hose whipped him off his feet and hurled him heading onto a rock outcropping 15 feet from the road.

BOWLED OVER

The Batstone boy was also bowled over by the tightening hose and Saanich Const. Jon Post was knocked to the ground. Neither were seriously injured.

Fireman Clifford Bultin, 4438 Majestic, driver of the truck, had no inkling the hose had jammed and it was not until he had stopped in position to fight the fire and saw a policeman running toward him that he discovered the accident.

Saanich police ambulance took the injured boy to hospital.

Projects Resume Today

VANCOUVER (CP) — A strike of 550 ironworkers which has tied up about $90,000,000 worth of construction in British Columbia for 50 days is formally over and the men will return to work today.

Ironworkers from 15 companies voted 96.9 per cent in favor of accepting a 57-cent-an-hour increase over 27 months.

Navy, RCAF Welded

Coast Defence One Command

A shuffle of Pacific Coast defence controls has made HMC Dockyard in Esquimalt the nerve centre of an integrated RCN-RCAF organization—the Canadian Maritime Command Pacific.

It is responsible for the defence of Canada's west coast against attack from the sea and the protection of sea communications in the Pacific.

Completion of the change-over was announced last night, almost 10 months after Defence Minister George Pearkes first outlined the plan.

RESCUE UNAFFECTED

The new command will not affect 121 Communications and Rescue Flight, which operates the air-sea rescue service on the Pacific Coast from Sea Island.

The RCAF Maritime Squadron, stationed at Comox, has been welded to the RCN's Pacific Coast fleet for co-ordinated operations.

ESQUIMALT-BASED

Ships under control of the maritime command are the squadron of St. Laurent-class destroyers, escorts, under the command of Capt. J. C. Pratt and the escort squadron of Prestonian-class frigates under Capt. H. A. Porter, all based at Esquimalt.

Lungs Aid Polio Fight

MONTREAL (CP) — Six iron lungs were flown here from Winnipeg Wednesday to bolster hard-pressed hospital equipment while worried health officials prepared to call an emergency meeting today in view of the alarming polio rate.

So far, 184 victims have been admitted to hospitals.

Rebels Encircled

Castro Flies In To Fighting Area

HAVANA (AP) — Premier Fidel Castro flew Wednesday to Las Villas province, where authorities said a band of counter-revolutionaries was encircled by rebel troops.

Reports reaching Havana later said a number of fugitives had surrendered, including several persons "of considerable importance."

Castro's trip to Cienfuegos, 140 miles southeast of Havana, was unexpected. On reaching the city, he boarded a helicopter, apparently to fly to the mountainous area between Cienfuegos and the town of Trinidad where the operation was said to centre.

New suspects were run through police interrogations, meanwhile, as Castro's forces continued what they called a mop-up against an anti-government conspiracy.

A number of prisoners were released in Havana. Elsewhere more arrests were reported. There was no firm estimate of the total caught in the drag-net, although Castro's brother, Raul, said it was 3,000.

Reports persisted at the presidential palace that Castro intends to climax his war against the "counter-revolutionaries" by flying to Chile to participate in the closing session of the inter-American foreign ministers conference at Santiago.

Bulletins

MIAMI, Fla.—Fresh speculation that an invasion force of counter-revolutionaries may have landed on Cuba's south central coast in the last 48 hours was reported from Havana Wednesday.

LONDON — The Duke of Edinburgh may visit Ghana this autumn, Ghana's Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah announced shortly after being appointed first Negro on the Queen's privy council.

SYDNEY, Australia—Factories will be asked to shut down to avoid unpleasant odors when Princess Alexandra drives from Sydney airport into the city Sept. 9 along a usually "smelly" route.

TORONTO — Ozzie Wafle, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto civil defence committee, says the federal government plans to build large atomic fallout shelters in downtown Toronto.

Canada's Fighting Fisherman Hits the Deck

Canada's Fighting Fisherman, Yvon Durelle, lies sprawled on canvas at Montreal Forum as referee Jack Sharkey waves that it's all over and Archie Moore has retained his world light-heavyweight

Phil Boats Big One —With a Fly Rod

Bing Crosby may be owner of the only lifetime fishing licence issued by the B.C. government, but yesterday Phil Harris was the big fisherman.

The two are fishing near Namu, small cannery community across Queen Charlotte Strait from the north end of Vancouver Island, aboard the 137-foot yacht Campana of newspaper proprietor Max Bell.

PHONE CALL

The accomplishment so impressed Crosby, a pretty fair fisherman himself, he phoned the Colonist from the yacht. "It was an exciting morning," he said. "Takes a real fisherman to turn in a performance like that."

LOT OF FISH

A longtime B.C. booster whose efforts on behalf of the 1958 centennial celebrations earned him the lifetime hunting and fishing licence from a grateful provincial government, Crosby said he was catching lots of fish.

48-POUNDER

And although Crosby didn't say it himself, news from the area indicates that "The Groaner" boated a 48-pounder. Then he switched the conversation to baseball. He wanted the win-loss and percentage figures for the "first five teams in the National and the first two in the American."

Crosby also expressed concern about comedian Bob Hope, another Vancouver Island visitor, with whom he has staged a lengthy battle of wits and shots on the golf course.

Hope, ordered by his doctor to take a complete rest, said earlier this week he plans to take a boat trip in Vancouver Island waters and might catch up to the Crosby-Harris party.

'GOOD THING'

Crosby asked if Hope had left Victoria and when told he was at Qualicum Beach, said, "That's a good thing for Victoria. Now you'll get some peace and quiet."

Then he relented and asked where Hope was staying in Qualicum.

CHICAGO (UPI) —

Nine rare birds were found beaten to death in their nests yesterday at the Lincoln Park zoo.

Zoo director Marlin Perkins said it apparently was the work of vandals "with very sick minds."

Slain were three wild turkeys from Texas, two demoscopes from India, a pair of crowned cranes from Africa, a Hutchins goose, and a rosey billed duck from South America.

Perkins said the vandals apparently used large sticks or baseball bats, stuffing the bodies under nests, boxes and a bank of a lagoon. One of the birds had been placed under a nesting box. The vandals apparently jumped up and down on the box until the bird died.

A similar attack last year by teenagers resulted in the death of seven birds and the wounding of five.

They Sparked the Stampede

Original gold watch which sparked the "trail of '98" gold rush was used in historic necklace displayed here by Marion Mezger, 2169 Fair.

Market Vote Friday

A special meeting of city council has been called for Friday at 8.30 p.m. to give final consideration to a by-law clearing the way for demolition of the public market building.

Reason for the evening meeting, an unusual event in Victoria city, is that only at that time could enough pro-demolition aldermen be rounded up to ensure passage of the by-law.

Of the eight aldermen, Ald. Austin Curtis is in hospital recovering from an operation. Ald. D. J. Proudfoot is in Britain. Ald. Hugh Ramsay is in Vancouver, but will be back in Victoria Friday evening. Ald. M. H. Mooney is against the bylaw, and one or two others wouldn't have been able to attend an afternoon meeting today or Friday.

Although final approval of the bylaw appears certain, it still may face attack.

Veteran public market stallholder Attilio Randy, who spent two nights in the market in a demonstration of opposition to the planned demolition, said yesterday he and the other members of the Society for the Preservation of the Public Market were still fighting.

Nuggets Launched Wild Era

When sourdoughs from all over North America converge on Victoria Aug. 27 to 29 they will see some of the original Bonanza Creek nuggets which sparked the mighty Yukon gold rush.

The nuggets—54 of them—are the property of a Victoria couple, Mr. and Mrs. Max Boas, 1239 Tattersall and have been made up in the form of a necklace.

On the heels of their discovery by a white man and two Indians on Bonanza Creek, Aug. 17, 1896, came the most fabulous period in Canadian mining history—the "trail of '98."

GOLDEN HORDE

The historic nuggets were the forerunners of a golden horde which poured out of the Yukon River watershed at a rate of $100,000,000 in the eight years from 1897 to 1904.

The nugget necklace was given to Mr. Boas by his mother, who in turn received the gold as a gift from "Skookum" Jim and "Tagish" Charlie, two of the three original discoverers on Bonanza Creek.

Along with other gold brought out by the trio, the nuggets laid the scene for an era of boom town growth, gambling, dancehalls, quick riches, privation and sudden death which has never been equalled.

SWELLED CITY

In two years it swelled the population of Dawson City from practically nothing to 25,000.

In a single year—1900—gold production from the area which yielded the Boas' nuggets reached $22,275,000.

Campers Pioneer New Parks

Lack of Hygiene
May Force Action

Greater use by campers of cleared places on out-of-the-way lakes and rivers may force creation of a number of new parks on Vancouver Island and elsewhere in British Columbia within the next year, a provincial parks spokesman said yesterday.

He said the campsite building program for this fall and winter may have to be revamped and curtailed because toilets and garbage pits will have to be provided at scores of backwoods camping spots vacationers are finding.

FIXED POLICY

It is recreation department policy only to spend money for development in parks, and to provide facilities in other areas it will be necessary to create parks out of property now held as reserves.

There are 1,800 park reserves in the province in addition to the 139 parks which include 80 different campsites and 2,000 camping units.

BUTTLE LAKE

One of the big problems facing the parks department is the Buttle Lake playground which on weekends now is crowded with eager campers.

Since a Colonist article brought action on securing a proper access to Buttle Lake there have been as many as 500 campers there on a weekend.

But there is only one toilet and parks branch officials appealed to campers to take along shovels and bury the refuse and garbage. Otherwise the area is in danger of being contaminated for future camping use.

SAME ALL OVER

"We must do something and we will," said the parks spokesman. But he explained it is the same all over the province.

Sayward Forest area beyond Campbell River is being used by hundreds of campers who fish the abundance of lakes there including Mohn Lake, Morton Lake, Blackwater Lake, Trout Lake and Roberts Lake, to mention a few.

GOOD ACCESS

Forest access roads which were used for reforestation provide good access to these lakes and a recently published map in the Campbell River districts points out the way.

The parks department has reserves there to be developed eventually, but it is now under the forest service.

FAVORED SPOTS

Revamping of the parks building program will probably include creation of parks in the Sayward Forest and provision of minimum facilities next year at some of the favored camping spots.

"There is a great need for boat launching sites, picnicking and campsites" in the Say-ward area, the spokesman said. He said Vancouver Island, with eight campsites and 588 camping units, is better off than any other part of the province.

Camping in provincial parks was down in July, probably because people stayed home for the royal visit. But in August all island camping units have been bulging at the weekends and nearly full during weekdays.

EARLY DEADLINE

To be sure of a good provincial campsite spot, campers should make plans to pitch their tents before 4 p.m. But, if a provincial parks department camping spot can't be found, there are hundreds of commercial camping areas offering accommodation which includes hot water and flush toilets for anywhere from 75 cents to $1.50 a night depending on facilities offered.

'Daredevil' Fails to Air Grievance

... unemployed daredevil

The minister was away in Vancouver when former McEachern Construction Ltd. truck driver Ray Smith, 23, of Cowichan Station, came to Victoria in an effort to get his job back.

He was fired shortly after a "daredevil" 57-mile drive over an unfinished road from Port Alberni to Ucluelet, through "pressure" put on McEachern by highways department officials and big lumber operators who own part of the road, he claims.

The "daredevil" drive included putting his car over the stringers of one uncompleted bridge.

Smith's appeal to Mr. Gaglardi was delayed by an unscheduled visit to hospital Saturday, caused by swallowing a piece of glass accidentally. He may have to return to hospital.

Yesterday he spoke to two government officials without success.

"One told me that if there was anything he could do to help me, he wouldn't do it," Smith said.

Future plans are uncertain, the former government draftsman said, gloomily.

He said he believes he was fired unjustly because publicity on his feat in negotiating the unfinished road led to an "onslaught" of cars anxious to travel on the road before it was ready for use.

"But highway department people and the forest company knew ahead of time I was going to attempt the unfinished road," he claims.

Indians

Hand-Out Policy Scored

NANAIMO—The history of the Indian affairs department has been based on a "hand-out" policy, Dr. Peter Kelly, Haida Indian chief and United Church minister, said Tuesday.

Speaking to a service club, Dr. Kelly said he was in Ottawa last month to present a brief to a joint Commons-Senate committee on Indian affairs.

He said most B.C. Indians wanted a federal vote on the same basis as they have a provincial vote.

"Indians in some provinces may choose not to be given the vote," he said. "In that case, why not take the provinces individually, according to their wishes?"

Commercial fisherman Walter W. Campbell, 1740 Fort, reported to city police theft of several items from his boat, the "WaltBob," at Fishermen's Wharf, since Saturday.

Stolen were a transistor radio in leather case, valued at $65; about 20 pounds of lead weights, a five-inch Alcock reel worth $7, and a quantity of groceries.

East Indians Mark Independence Day

COWICHAN LAKE—East Indian wrestling, poetry readings and feasting at Mesachie Lake near here, Sunday, is expected to draw more than 500 Sikhs to celebrate India's Independence Day.

Priests from Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, and from here, will observe the Aug. 15, 1957, "liberation" from British rule with mass prayers in the temple from 7 to 9.30 a.m.

Second part of the day-long celebrations will be a flag-raising ceremony when the Union Jack and India's red, white and green flag will fly beside each other.

"And then we make way for the sports, weight-lifting, soccer and volleyball, starting at 11 a.m.," said Charn Singh Sangha, secretary of the sponsoring group, the Hillcrest Khalsa Diwan Society.

Starting at 3.30 p.m. there will be singing, lectures and poetry readings in Punjabi.

"There'll be lots of things to interest the Canadian community," said Mr. Sangha.

One of the highlights of the celebration will be free meals of East Indian food served "all day."

'Hordes of Sick Alcoholics' Keep Nurses Busy at Jubilee

Victoria psychiatrist Dr. Leyda Lythgoe yesterday said "hordes of acutely ill alcoholics" are being treated as outpatients by the psychiatric ward of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

She said nurses there were operating a telephone "reassuring service." She said the ward gets several hundred of those calls a year and the nurse may get a doctor or may herself talk for five or seven minutes to a "panicky" patient.

Dr. Lythgoe was speaking at the public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association into B.C.'s mental health problems at the legislative buildings.

City welfare administrator,

William Hooson said, there are 600 alcoholics in Victoria and "this group presents a major problem. With no provision for treatment of this group, the most urgent cases are treated at the psychiatric unit at the general hospital."

Mental Cases Held in City Jail Without Real Care, Treatment

Bad Planning Victimizes B.C. Children

A charge of improper planning of British Columbia's industrial schools for children, was levelled yesterday at the opening public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association in B.C. mental health problems.

David Woodsworth, director of the Victoria Family and Children's Service, told the hearing that "we feel many children are committed to industrial schools who should not have been committed. They appear before juvenile court without having preventive treatment offered."

BAD PLANNING

He charged that children "go back to the industrial school two or three times because there are no facilities for treatment of emotionally disturbed or retarded children in the industrial schools."

"This is not proper planning," he said.

Mr. Woodsworth said the Victoria district needs an outpatient service to deal with severe personality cases and that there should be a child guidance clinic for Nanaimo and north, particularly in respect of Brannan Lake Boys' Industrial School.

He also expressed the need for residential services for older children who have been discharged from mental treatment centres and the need for additional residential services for mentally retarded children whose families are incapable of looking after them.

He said the Victoria child guidance clinic did a good job in diagnosis, but not treatment.

NO FACILITIES

"We obtain a diagnosis, but there are no facilities for treatment. There simply aren't facilities to which they can send children," he complained.

Mr. Woodsworth said government sponsorship will be needed to maintain the Sevenoaks Children's Centre, which is now operated by the local Family and Children's Service. It is a residential treatment centre for emotionally-disturbed children. Eight boys are now accommodated there and length of stay ranges between two and three years.

To Non-Crackpots

'Crackpot' Airs Views

Well-known Victorian, W. A. Scott, appeared before the open public hearing of the American Psychiatric Association at the legislative buildings yesterday to present what he called "a crackpot's view of mental problems in British Columbia."

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the APA, who is conducting the inquiry into B.C. mental health conditions, that "I am here as a crackpot presenting my views to non-crackpots."

PROMINENT FIGHTER

Mr. Scott is president of the Victoria Humanist Society and has been prominent in civic fights in the last few years. He was cast out of the Social Credit party and was disqualified from running for Victoria mayor because he had once been convicted of hitting the Oak Bay wiring inspector on the nose.

He told yesterday's hearing that "so-called crackpots have been responsible for most success and achievements in the world."

He said they are the ones who control society.

"I consider have the greatest need for psychiatrists."

50 PER CENT WRONG

He described members of the legal profession as "the highest profession for always being 50 per cent wrong. They

He said the Americans use "In God We Trust" on their coin of the realm, but no nation has used "In Man We Trust."

Mr. Scott was the only person appearing before the hearing yesterday who was not asked to submit his thoughts in writing.

Help for Retarded 'Most Pressing Need'

Additional "hospital school" accommodation is the most pressing mental health need in British Columbia, A. E. Raymond, acting president of the Greater Victoria Association for Retarded Children, told a public hearing into mental health problems of B.C. yesterday.

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the American Psychiatric Association, that it is "evident that Woodlands School is inadequate."

SMALL HOMES NEEDED

TRAINING PLAN

He called for the inception of a home training plan, using visiting teachers to serve children who, by reason of physical disability, family problems, or inaccessibility, are unable to attend special schools.

He also asked for the setting up of pre-primary schools available to the mentally retarded from the age of five onwards thereby making discovery and early diagnosis possible.

Government financial support for research is also needed, he said.

'Deplorable Situation' Scored at Hearing

By ALEC MERRIMAN

A "deplorable situation" exists with regard to mental patients awaiting transportation from Victoria to the mainland for treatment, City welfare administrator William Hooson said yesterday.

"Frequently these sick people are held in the city jail for periods up to 36 hours without the care of trained staff and no facilities for emergency treatment," he said at a public hearing into B.C.'s mental health problems which opened at the legislative buildings yesterday.

He told Dr. Mathew Ross, medical director of the American Psychiatric Association, who is conducting the inquiry, that the greatest problem facing Victoria is that of caring for disturbed seniles.

He was supported in this claim by Richard Broughton, a member of the Canadian Mental Health Association who said "there is a definite need for a home for the aged on the island."

Mr. Broughton felt that many of the old people were able to pay more than the $1.50 a day rate charged in government-operated, aged homes, but also admitted that in cases where young people with families are paying to keep old folks in homes any increase could create a hardship.

Government Generous

"Am I correct in assuming the elderly are particularly well cared for by this government as a campaign promise?" Dr. Ross asked.

"I think they are particularly generous to old people," Mr. Broughton replied.

Mr. Hooson said there is little organized follow-up care for patients in the Victoria area discharged from mental institutions. He said many patients are sent back to family life with "no follow-up care."

Mr. Hooson joined with all others who spoke at yesterday's hearings in asking for some central co-ordinating unit for mental health services in the district.

Emotionally Disturbed

a community clinic within our public health service.

"We feel in a good position to display a degree of leadership. In the past, mental treatment has not been considered part of public health work, but we are suggesting it becomes a logical part," he said.

He said assistance of a fully-qualified psychiatrist to give part-time guidance complemented by a full-time qualified personnel in public health nursing, psychology and psychiatric social work are judged necessary for development of a useful community program.

Dr. Ross asked if there would be "any way to pool the resources of people and dollars," to provide better mental health service in the community.

Unnecessary Expense

Victoria psychiatrist Dr. D. E. Alcorn said an outpatient clinic for mental cases "would be a duplication of services and an expense to the taxpayers."

There is a 24-bed psychiatric ward at Royal Jubilee Hospital it was explained.

The public hearings will continue at Nanaimo today and in Vancouver Friday.

Next week the hearings move to the interior of B.C.

Dr. Ross told the Colonist yesterday that he hopes to present a report to the government by August of next year.

Out of his report is expected to come a reorganization of B.C.'s mental health services and Dr. Ross indicated yesterday that one thing he will recommend is closer co-operation between public health and mental health services.

"I would like to get some idea of what people think. Are they willing to pay a little higher in taxes to get the facilities they want?" Dr. Ross asked.

Later, when he referred to costs again, he said "I keep mentioning dollars because it has to be faced sooner or later."

These two beachcombing Esquimalt youngsters got an exciting pen pal yesterday when they found bottle bearing a note from a Seattle boy asking the finder to write him. He will get his wish from finders Leonard

Neighborly Assistance Overwhelms Family

DUNCAN — A family of nine who narrowly missed searing death Tuesday morning when their home burned to the ground, have offered a "humble" thanks to Cowichan residents for their "kind" assistance.

"The children didn't suffer from a lack of anything. Within a short time they had more than before the fire," said their father, Robert Schifferns.

Hours after their 75-year-old Tzouhalem Road home was completely destroyed by a fire of unknown origin — from which they saved only a sewing machine — the Oblate Fathers offered the Catholic family shelter across the road in a building that had been a rectory.

"All the neighbors helped with food and clothing. The Red Cross too. The fathers gave us furniture and the sisters of Saint Ann some dishes. The Knights of Columbus gave us a very generous donation," he said.

"It is hard to express our feelings, except to say we give thanks," he said.

With the help of neighbors the family are renovating the old rectory for an "indefinite" stay.

NANAIMO — Orangemen and members of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association of British Columbia will hold "Derry Day" celebrations here Saturday with parade and picnic.

DUNCAN — First World War winner of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, John Peters will be buried today. The 64-year-old man died Monday.

An honor guard of Cobble Hill branch, Canadian Legion members will be present at the funeral in St. Andrew's Church, Cowichan Station.

Born in Fishau, Russia, he served with the Russian Imperial Army in the First World War. During the Second World War he served with the Pacific Coast Militia Rangers.

He received the order for his war services with the St. John Ambulance Brigade.

Rev. W. E. Greenhough will officiate at the service starting at 2 p.m. Burial will be in the churchyard cemetery. First funeral home, Duncan, are in charge of the arrangements.

Surviving are his wife, Patricia, at home; three sons, George in Ontario, Hugh and Francis at home; a daughter, Lawrie, Victoria; five brothers and three sisters.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held today for John Allan, 88, a former prospector and Canadian Legion member.

The former Sidney resident, who came here from Sidney 18 months ago, served overseas in the First World War. He died Tuesday.

Rev. W. O. McKee will officiate at the service starting at 10:30 a.m. in the first funeral home. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

NANAIMO — Nanaimo's second United Appeal campaign will open Sept. 28 and the target will be $54,600. Campaign chairman is John Dunham.

GALIANO — Rural delivery of mail will go into effect for the first time here on Tuesday. The federal government also announced recently a new post office will be built on the island later this year near the location of the present structure on Sturdies Bay wharf.

NANAIMO — Crown prosecutor at the fall assizes which begin here Sept. 8 will be Port Alberni barrister A. G. McCulloch. He will be assisted by Don Cunliffe of Nanaimo.

DUNCAN — Because of the "tight money situation in the province" the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, Dogwood Chapter, have decided to offer a $300 bursary this year instead of 1960 as they had originally planned.

It is open to former School District 65 (Cowichan) students who have completed a year of studies at either the University of British Columbia at Vancouver or Victoria College.

GALIANO — A 16-pound salmon recently won N. E. McConnell of Mayne Island a transistor radio and first prize in the Galiano Rod and Gun Club Salmon Derby.

Second prize went to Red Howard of Mayne Island and H. T. Lawrence of Vancouver was third winner.

Airport Terminal

Scurrah Assails Inaction

Failure of the federal government to announce firm plans for construction of a new administration building at Victoria International Airport was termed "disappointing" last night by Mayor Percy Scurrah.

The mayor said he would give Ottawa "about another month" before renewing demands.

Earlier yesterday Conway Parrott, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, said "we are not too satisfied that there will be any early action."

Mayor Scurrah said, "The thing seems to be stalled." He said that when he was in Ottawa last May government officials thought eventual Rotodyne service between downtown Vancouver and downtown Victoria would make the airport obsolete.

But he said they reacted favorably to his suggestion that they build a new terminal just to take care of requirements for the next 10 years.

Freak Accident Near Grass Fire

HOSE HURLS CHILD ON ROCK

Condition Of Boy Critical

A fire hose which slashed like a bowstring across a corner lot yesterday, when it jammed while unreeling from a Saanich fire engine, hurled one youngster 15 feet, bowled over another and sent a policeman sprawling.

In critical condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night was Donald Stewart, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Stewart, 3314 Fircrest, after he was catapulted onto a rock outcropping by the hose.

GRASS FIRE

The freak accident came at 1:30 p.m. yesterday as the Saanich fire department went to work extinguishing a grass fire near the Stewart home.

After connecting a hose to a hydrant at Oakcrest and Knight, the moving truck unreeling it by driving down Knight and onto Fircrest.

RIPPED SIGNPOST

A coupling jammed on the reel and the suddenly-tightened hose snapped diagonally across the corner, ripping out a signpost and damaging shrubbery in the garden of F. L. Rogers, 3318 Fircrest.

The Stewart youngster, with a friend, Russell Batstone, 5, of 1541 McRae, was running along Knight beside the Rogers garden when the hose whipped him off his feet and hurled him headlong onto a rock outcropping 15 feet from the road.

BOWLED OVER

The Batstone boy was also bowled over by the tightening hose and Saanich Const. Jon Post was knocked to the ground. Neither was seriously injured.

Fireman Clifford Button, 4438 Majestic, driver of the truck, had no inkling the hose had jammed and it was not until he had stopped in position to fight the fire and saw a policeman running toward him that he discovered the accident.

Saanich police ambulance took the injured boy to hospital.

Projects Resume Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—A strike of 550 ironworkers which has tied up about $90,000,000 worth of construction in British Columbia for 30 days is formally over and the men will return to work today.

Ironworkers from 15 companies voted 96.9 per cent in favor of accepting a 57-cent-an-hour increase over 27 months.

Navy, RCAF Welded

Coast Defence One Command

A shuffle of Pacific Coast defence controls has made HMC Dockyard in Esquimalt the nerve centre of an integrated RCN-RCAF organization—the Canadian Maritime Command Pacific.

It is responsible for the defence of Canada's west coast against attack from the sea and the protection of sea communications in the Pacific.

Completion of the change-over was announced last night, almost 10 months after Defence Minister George Peckham first outlined the plan.

RESCUE UNAFFECTED

The new command will not affect 121 Communications and Rescue Flight, which operates the air-sea rescue service on the Pacific Coast from Sea Island.

The RCAF Maritime Squadron, stationed at Comox, has been welded to the RCN's Pacific Coast fleet for co-ordinated operations.

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, flag officer, Pacific Coast, has been appointed commander of the new organization. Group Capt. J. H. Roberts, RCAF, Comox, is deputy commander, stationed at Esquimalt.

Ships under control of the maritime command are the squadron of St. Laurent-class destroyers under the command of Capt. J. C. Pratt and the escort squadron of Prestonian-class frigates under Capt. H. A. Porter, all based at Esquimalt.

The air arm of the command is 407 (Maritime Patrol) Squadron of Neptune aircraft, under the command of Wing Commander J. C. McCarthy, based at Comox.

Crocodiles

Malaya (AP)—A 200-year-old custom in Kampong village decrees that anyone visiting the village for the first time must swim its river, alive with snapping crocodiles.

If the visitor is good, legend has it, he will go unharmed. If he's bad, he'll be snapped up.

Noordin, an Alliance Party candidate, took the plunge—and not a crocodile snout was raised in protest.

Polio Fight Aided

MONTREAL (CP)—Six iron lungs were flown here from Winnipeg Wednesday to bolster hard-pressed hospital equipment while worried health officials prepared to call an emergency meeting today in view of the alarming polio rate.

So far, 184 victims have been admitted to hospitals.

Rebels Encircled

Castro Flies In To Fighting Area

HAVANA (AP)—Premier Fidel Castro flew Wednesday to Las Villas province, where authorities said a band of counter-revolutionaries was encircled by rebel troops.

Reports reaching Havana later said a number of fugitives had surrendered, including several persons "of considerable importance."

Castro's trip to Cienfuegos, 140 miles southeast of Havana, was unexpected. On reaching the city, he boarded a helicopter, apparently to fly to the mountainous area between Cienfuegos and the town of Trinidad where the operation was said to centre.

New suspects were run through police interrogations, meanwhile, as Castro's forces continued what they called a mopping-up against an anti-government conspiracy.

A number of prisoners were released in Havana. Elsewhere more arrests were reported. There was no firm estimate of the total caught in the dragnet, although Castro's brother, Raul, said it was 3,000.

Reports persisted at the presidential palace that Castro intends to climax his war against the "counter-revolutionaries" by flying to Chile to participate in the closing session of the Inter-American foreign ministers conference at Santiago.

Bulletins

MIAMI, Fla.—Fresh speculation that an invasion force of counter-revolutionaries may have landed on Cuba's south central coast in the last 48 hours was reported from Havana Wednesday.

LONDON—The Duke of Edinburgh may visit Ghana this autumn, Ghana's Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah announced shortly after being appointed first Negro on the Queen's privy council.

SYDNEY, Australia—Factories will be asked to shut down to avoid unpleasant odors when Princess Alexandra drives from Sydney airport into the city Sept. 9 along a usually "smelly" route.

TORONTO—Orzie Wafle, chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto civil defence committee, says the federal government plans to build large atomic fallout shelters in downtown Toronto.

Canada's Fighting Fisherman Hits the Deck

Canada's Fighting Fisherman, Yvon Durelle, lies sprawled on canvas at Montreal Forum as referee Jack Sharkey waves that it's all over and Archie Moore has retained his world light-heavyweight

Phil Boats Big One —With a Fly Rod

Bing Crosby may be owner of the only lifetime fishing licence issued by the B.C. government, but yesterday Phil Harris was the big fisherman.

The two are fishing near Namu, small cannery community across Queen Charlotte Strait from the north end of Vancouver Island, aboard the 137-foot yacht Campana of newspaper proprietor Max Bell.

It sounded as though something desperate had happened when Crosby called the Colonist by radio-telephone yesterday afternoon to describe what he called an "exciting morning."

Actually, he just wanted to report the gravel-voiced Harris had just hooked and landed a 37-pound salmon using a fly rod and a 10-pound test-line.

"It was an exciting morning," he said. "Takes a real fisherman to turn in a performance like that."

LOT OF FISH
A longtime B.C. booster whose efforts on behalf of the 1958 centennial celebrations earned him the lifetime hunting and fishing licence from a grateful provincial government, Crosby said he has been catching lots of fish.

48-POUNDER
And although Crosby didn't say it himself, news from the area indicated that "the Groaner" hooked a 48-pounder.

Then he switched the conversation to baseball. He wanted the win-loss and percentage figures for the "first five teams in the National and the first two in the American."

Request for exact standings made it sound like a baseball pool was going strong on the Campana.

Crosby also expressed concern about comedian Bob Hope, another Vancouver Island visitor, with whom he has staged a lengthy battle of wits and shots on the golf course.

Hope, ordered by his doctor to take a complete rest, said earlier this week he plans to take a boat trip in Vancouver Island waters and might catch up to the Crosby-Harris party.

'GOOD THING'

Crosby asked if Hope had left Victoria and when told he was at Qualicum Beach, said, "That's a good thing for Victoria. Now you'll get some peace and quiet."

Then he relented and asked where Hope was staying in Qualicum.

Meteorite Shower Thrills Viewers

A number of Victorians who waited outside their homes late last night were rewarded with the sight of many meteorites plunging toward the earth—at a rate of 50 an hour, according to an observatory official.

The meteorites will be visible again in the northwest sky between 9.30 p.m. tonight and 2 a.m. Friday for the last time this year.
